Sex and Candy

AMY SEDARIS IS BAKING HER
CUPCAKES AND EATING THEM, TOO

It's not easy being pretty. At least not for Amy Sedaris, who usually strives to look as unattractive as possible. As Jerri Blank, the 47-year-old drug addict-turned-high school freshman on Comedy Central's Strangers With Candy (1999-2000), she gladly donned a fat suit and stained her teeth yellow.

"I always tend to want to do the ugly roles where you don't wear makeup," says the chameleonic actor. But to play Carrie Bradshaw's boy-crazy book marketer on Sex and the City (Molly Shannon plays the publisher), Sedaris, 41, agreed to get gussied up. "Sarah Jessica said, 'I'd love to have you do something for the show, but you're going to have to look pretty,'" says Sedaris, who costarred with Parker last year in the off-Broadway play "Wonder of the World."

When not acting or writing (she's cowritten a series of plays with her brother David), Sedaris runs a cupcake and cheese-ball business out of her Greenwich Village, New York, apartment. And since appearing as David Spade's doppelgänger last season on Just Shoot Me, she's getting noticed on the street. The last time Sedaris was on the verge of mainstream fame was when she was cast in "Six Days Seven Nights"—but her scene ended up on the cutting-room floor. "My shoulder was in the movie," she says.

Still, she's not complaining. "I've never had a job I didn't like," Sedaris says, including waiting tables—which she did until two years ago and wouldn't mind resuming, even though she doesn't have to. "Because I don't have to do it, it makes it fun. You get a free meal, you make tips, you meet people." And your teeth can be whatever color you'd like. —Paula Bernstein

IT'S THE THOTH THAT COUNTS

He doesn't have quite the name recognition of, say, Cher or Shaq, but when Thoth took the stage at this year's Oscars, millions worldwide were exposed to the mono-monikered performer's exuberant "prayformance" style—not to mention his loincloth and headdress. "I loved it. It was so exciting," says Thoth, 48, of the big night when the documentary short about him won.

Caught up in the excitement, Thoth leaped from his seat, whirling around and playing his violin behind winning filmmaker Sarah Kernochan, whose film "Thoth" airs on Cinemax August 19 (7 P.M./ET). But earlier on the red carpet, Thoth's antics ►►

► freaked out the security forces. "The guards tried to throw me out three times," he says. "It was quite a scene."

Despite the publicity, Thoth (who was born Stephen Kaufman and renamed himself after an Egyptian deity) continues to perform in New York City's Central Park. The classically trained musician plays violin and sings in his own personal language to crowds that are more likely to recognize him these days.

But not everyone's mad about his music. "It seems perfectly conceived to me," says Kernochan, "but some people hear him and then laugh at him, or yell at him."

The fact that the filmmaker thought Thoth was worth 40 minutes of serious consideration was enough to endear her to him forever. "It was joyful to have someone defend me, which is new," says Thoth. "That's what I love about the film. It's a defense of me." —Ted Loos

TUBTHUMPING

RUB-A-DUB-DUB!

Hot tubs are popping up all over TV this summer, and we'd like nothing better than to jump in. Here we've rated three reality shows on how well they've satisfied our Jacuzzi jones. —John Sellers

1 REAL WORLD CHICAGO (MTV)

WHO GOT WET Mostly Theo, a horny homeboy with six-pack abs, and Tonya, a buxom bikini lover. HOT-WATER MOMENT Theo invites two women he just met to splash around—to the disgust of his housemates. TUB TALK "What're you thinkin' about?" bisexual Aneesa asks Theo. "Having sex with you," he says. RATING Tonya barely squeezes into her suit, making the group bonding in the tub much easier to take. Y Y Y (out of four)

2 LOOKING FOR LOVE: BACHELORETTE IN ALASKA (FOX)

WHO GOT WET Insatiable flirt Rebekah. HOT-WATER MOMENT As Rebekah gets a foot massage, she squeals in a voice-over, "I love men! It's just my nature!" No kidding—ask any guy in Alaska. TUB TALK Apropos of nothing, bachelorette Karen announces, "I like big butts!" RATING Only three scenes in the entire series took place in the outdoor hot tub. Snooze! Y

3 BIG BROTHER 3 (CBS)

WHO GOT WET Lisa, a slinky bartender given to wearing a skimpy black bikini and thong; Tonya, a busty mother of five; and paranoid back-stabber Josh. HOT-WATER MOMENT Josh unveils the "Big Brother handshake," which involves bumping fists. It fails to catch on. TUB TALK In the clothes-swapping contest to win hot-tub privileges, Gerry, 51, announces, "A guy my size in a Speedo is not a pretty sight." So true. RATING There hasn't even been a foot massage yet! But given that Lisa, Chiara and recently evicted Tonya went topless on camera, it's only a matter of time before someone gets a rubdown. Y Y Y

Camp classics

LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION!

The word camp usually conjures up images of a leafy summer oasis where 12-year-olds undertake waterskiing by day and panty raids by night—but that hardly describes the scene at Movie Camp. In a dingy New York City classroom, eight adults—ranging from their late teens to mid-30s—discuss the finer points of camera technique. For $1,500, the cable network AMC and the New York Film Academy let grown-ups in both New York and Los Angeles spend six days finding their inner Scorsese.

The goal: to learn enough about writing, filming, directing, lighting, processing and editing to make a short silent film in five days flat. No wonder Cort Huffman, a 30-year-old printing-press worker, blanches as he looks over the action-packed schedule. But two days later, clad in a black cape, he expertly barks orders as he directs and stars in his own film. "Su Lin, keep those shadows," Huffman tells his camera-

Future filmmakers of America: Cort and Su Lin

woman, an MBA student. "I like the shadows!"

Attracting average movie lovers was exactly what AMC's Tom Barreca had in mind when he dreamed up Movie Camp. In search of a new revenue stream, Barreca had noted the craze of fantasy sports camps and thought he could do the same for AMC fans. "We wanted to create a fantasy camp for movie lovers," he says. "Everyone believes that they have a movie inside of them." On the sixth day, campers proudly screen their finished products at the New York Film Academy's screening room. The results even impressed editing instructor Justin Madden. "To be honest, I did not think a one-week program would work," says Madden, "but I was quite surprised with the sophisticated camera work and editing." But even with rave reviews, campers must return to their everyday lives as students, limo drivers and customer-service representatives. —Amy Kover

THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT! by WARD SUTTON

Hollywood GRAPEVINE

SHOWBIZ BUZZ + CELEBRITY SCOOP

By Mark Schwed

The launch of Anna Nicole Smith's new reality series on E! didn't go exactly as planned.

Smith's Texas drawl turned into a sleepy slur in several promotional appearances we caught, and her press conference in front of TV critics in Pasadena, California, was a snooze. It was "awful," said one critic, echoing the thoughts of many. "She was very low-key and appeared medicated." Later, the star of The Anna Nicole Show couldn't stop sobbing when a reporter asked whether she was going to make another appearance on E! comrade Howard Stern's show. "No," she said. "He was mean to me and said some awful things about my husband [the late oil magnate J. Howard Marshall II]."

Smith had to be consoled by her assistant and her attorney.

A sob story

Rosie O'Donnell may have quit her TV show, but her impact is still being felt in a big way. A little blurb in her magazine Rosie about www.hugsandhope.com, a Web site that lifts the spirits of seriously ill kids with cards and gift baskets, resulted in a flood of responses from readers. One happy recipient: Paige Haney, 10, of East Liverpool, Ohio, who is undergoing chemotherapy treatment for bone cancer. "She thinks it's great that she gets more mail than I do," says her mom, Christina. "It puts a smile on her face. I love that." As for Paige, she has just two words for Rosie: "Thank you."

You've got mail

Millions of Oprah fans know Dr. Phillip C. McGraw as tough-talking therapist Dr. Phil, who's getting his own show this fall. But few people know that his family is suffering through a terrible tragedy. Last year, his wife's sister, Cindy Broaddus, was horribly disfigured when someone dropped a container of acid onto her car from a freeway overpass and it crashed through the windshield. "She's not doing well," McGraw says. "She's had a dozen surgeries. It's horribly painful." The culprit is still at large. "It's very trying on the family. Cindy feels helpless."

Hard times

With so many psychics popping up on television with their own shows, you'd think best-selling author Sylvia Browne (Book of Dreams, Dutton) would want to join the fray. Not so. "[TV producers] have been asking me for years," she says. "I'm not interested." Instead, she has her sights set on film. Browne just met with Paramount execs about making a movie of her life. So does she ever use her powers for personal gain? "You lose your purse? I can find it," Browne says. "I lose my purse? Forget it. It's gone. We can't do ourselves."

CHEERS & JEERS

CHEERS to effervescent singers. Rivaling Britney Spears as Pepsi songs-woman is Shakira. In her most recent commercial, the Colombian pop star meets a young fan, giving him a front-row seat at her concert. It's like a shorter, sassier version of the old Mean Joe Greene Coke classic. But Shakira really rocks in her brief performance. Every generation needs its Charo. Ours can sing.

True pop star: Shakira (above); hip-hop Dexter

JEERS to the worst case of ruining a book. The Worst-Case Scenario Survival Handbook was a fun read

Worth repeating

"I got a great tip from my stockbroker. He told me for 39 cents he could super-size my fries." —Jay Leno, of NBC's Tonight Show

"Well, that's unfortunate—how do they expect movie stars to survive on less than $300,000 a week?" —Kelly Ripa, of Live With Regis and Kelly, about Rob Lowe exiting The West Wing after being denied a big raise

"Variety reported that the Oscar ceremony is going to be moved up from March 14 to February 28. Despite starting in February, the ceremony will still end on March 14." —Conan O'Brien, of NBC's Late Night when published in 1999 as a guide to life's pitfalls. But TBS's version, Worst-Case Scenario, is a low-budget, no-brain blend of Fear Factor and those TV newsmagazines that recycle footage of stranded fishermen and submerged motorists. And the Worst-Case "laboratory" set makes the production values of Lost in Space seem Spielbergian. But Worst's worst idea is "Gear Girl," a tight-skirted stuntwoman (Danielle Burgo) who demonstrates survival gadgets. If only she'd perfect the skill truly needed to survive this show: running in knee-high go-go boots without looking really foolish.

JEERS to poor selection. Why is it that these reality shows always seem to capture a little too much reality? You'd think CBS would have a more effective screening process for Big Brother 3 after some contestants in BB2 turned out to have arrest records. But housemate Chiara Berti is facing a DUI charge, and Amy Crews has a DWI on her record. (Crews was underage at the time.) Does Big Brother need a casting director or a parole officer?

CHEERS to lab raps. Some funky fans of the Cartoon Network have gotten together to record the six-song CD Dexter's Laboratory: The Hip-Hop Experiment. Among the entries are Coolio's "Dexter (What's His Name?)," "Sibling Rivalries" by De La Soul and Prince Paul's "Back to the Lab." These cartoon tunes are hotter than a Bunsen burner.

the ROUSH REVIEW

ACCENT ON MYSTERY

PBS, A&E ADAPT
FIRST-RATE WHODUNITS

Many's the summer I have spent engrossed in the literate detective novels of Elizabeth George, a rarity among writers of English mysteries in that she's an American who spins her stories from California.

In putting her books on film, thankfully, she hasn't gone Hollywood. She's gone to London (BBC) and Boston (WGBH) instead, resulting in a promising series of Mystery! movies that opens with The Inspector Lynley Mysteries: A Great Deliverance (PBS, August 19 and 26, check TV GUIDE listings).

Crime drama is prevalent on American TV as well, sparked by CBS's CSI: Crime Scene Investigation and NBC's Law & Order franchise. But there's something uniquely compelling about the British landscape, its pastoral settings marred by primal violence.

George's hero, Thomas Lynley (Nathaniel Parker), is a titled aristocrat paired with a working-class frump, the resentful Sgt. Barbara Havers (Sharon Small).

Their first case sends them to the countryside, where a farmer has been beheaded. As tradition demands, the village is layered with skeletons, literal and metaphorical.

The fractious partnership of the romantically tormented Lynley and the chip-on-her-shoulder

Havers is enjoyable, although one misses the psychological complexity of George's writing. More chapters are scheduled to air next summer.

Until then, I highly recommend a grittier series of A&E movies based on British author Frances Fyfield's tangled tales featuring Crown prosecutor Helen West (Amanda Burton of A&E's Silent Witness).

This prickly and sexy heroine, involved in an ambivalent relationship with a police superintendent (Conor Mullen), gets embroiled in unsettling urban cases reminiscent of the landmark Prime Suspect films. The West trilogy began in June with Deep Sleep, continues September 14 with the darkly suspenseful Shadow Play and concludes October 26 with A Clear Conscience. Mystery buffs, mark your calendars.

ROUSH RIFF

NBC's pandering "reality" filler (Dog Eat Dog, Fear Factor, Spy TV) so often leaves us pining for the relative freshness of summer reruns that the network's Rerun Show (Tuesdays, 8 P.M./ET) seems a mixed blessing. Making cheap jokes out of cheap jokes, this series re-creates "classic" episodes of such vintage sitcoms as Diff'rent Strokes and The Jeffersons in sketch-parody form. While it's fun mocking the mannered acting and cornball clichés, there's a crudeness to the way the Rerun troupe exploits the sexual-innuendo subtext of these family comedies. As you'd expect, Nick at Nite beckons as a worthier alternative.

Rewriting history.

Important information:

LIPITOR® (atorvastatin calcium) is a prescription drug used with diet to lower cholesterol. LIPITOR is not for everyone, including those with liver disease or possible liver problems, women who are nursing, pregnant, or may become pregnant. LIPITOR has not been shown to prevent heart disease or heart attacks.

If you take LIPITOR, tell your doctor about any unusual muscle pain or weakness. This could be a sign of serious side effects. It is important to tell your doctor about any medications you are currently taking to avoid possible serious drug interactions. Your doctor may do simple blood tests to monitor liver function before and during drug treatment. The most commonly reported side effects are gas, constipation, stomach pain and indigestion. They are usually mild and tend to go away.

Please see additional important information on next page

The bad news: high cholesterol may have as much to do with family genes as food. The good news: if diet and exercise aren't enough, adding LIPITOR can lower your total cholesterol 29% to 45% and your bad cholesterol 39% to 60% (average effect depending on dose). So shake up your tree a little. One in five people has high cholesterol and millions need treatment — talk to your doctor to find out if LIPITOR is right for you. To learn more, contact us at 1-888-LIPITOR or www.lipitor.com.

LIPITOR® (Atorvastatin Calcium) Tablets

Brief Summary of Prescribing Information

CONTRAINDICATIONS: Active liver disease or unexplained persistent elevations of serum transaminases. Hypersensitivity to any component of this medication. Pregnancy and Lactation — Atherosclerosis is a chronic process and discontinuation of lipid-lowering drugs during pregnancy should have little impact on the outcome of long-term therapy of primary hypercholesterolemia. Cholesterol and other products of cholesterol biosynthesis are essential components for fetal development (including synthesis of steroids and cell membranes). Since HMG-CoA reductase inhibitors decrease cholesterol synthesis and possibly the synthesis of other biologically active substances derived from cholesterol, they may cause fetal harm when administered to pregnant women. Therefore, HMG-CoA reductase inhibitors are contraindicated during pregnancy and in nursing mothers. ATORVASTATIN SHOULD BE ADMINISTERED TO WOMEN OF CHILDBEARING AGE ONLY WHEN SUCH PATIENTS ARE HIGHLY UNLIKELY TO CONCEIVE AND HAVE BEEN INFORMED OF THE POTENTIAL HAZARDS. If the patient becomes pregnant while taking this drug, therapy should be discontinued and the patient apprised of the potential hazard to the fetus.

WARNINGS: Liver Dysfunction — HMG-CoA reductase inhibitors, like some other lipid-lowering therapies, have been associated with biochemical abnormalities of liver function. Persistent elevations (>3 times the upper limit of normal [ULN] occurring on 2 or more occasions) in serum transaminases occurred in 0.7% of patients who received atorvastatin in clinical trials. The incidence of these abnormalities was 0.2%, 0.2%, 0.6%, and 2.3% for 10, 20, 40, and 80 mg, respectively. One patient in clinical trials developed jaundice. Increases in liver function tests (LFT) in other patients were not associated with jaundice or other clinical signs or symptoms. Upon dose reduction, drug interruption, or discontinuation, transaminase levels returned to or near pretreatment levels without sequelae. Eighteen of 30 patients with persistent LFT elevations continued treatment with a reduced dose of atorvastatin. It is recommended that liver function tests be performed prior to and at 12 weeks following both the initiation of therapy and any elevation of dose, and periodically (eg, semiannually) thereafter. Liver enzyme changes generally occur in the first 3 months of treatment with atorvastatin. Patients who develop increased transaminase levels should be monitored until the abnormalities resolve. Should an increase in ALT or AST of >3 times ULN persist, reduction of dose or withdrawal of atorvastatin is recommended. Atorvastatin should be used with caution in patients who consume substantial quantities of alcohol and/or have a history of liver disease. Active liver disease or unexplained persistent transaminase elevations are contraindications to the use of atorvastatin (see CONTRAINDICATIONS). Skeletal Muscle — Rhabdomyolysis with acute renal failure secondary to myoglobinuria has been reported with other drugs in this class. Uncomplicated myalgia has been reported in atorvastatin-treated patients (see ADVERSE REACTIONS). Myopathy, defined as muscle aches or muscle weakness in conjunction with increases in creatine phosphokinase (CPK) values >10 times ULN, should be considered in any patient with diffuse myalgias, muscle tenderness or weakness, and/or marked elevation of CPK. Patients should be advised to report promptly unexplained muscle pain, tenderness or weakness, particularly if accompanied by malaise or fever. Atorvastatin therapy should be discontinued if markedly elevated CPK levels occur or myopathy is diagnosed or suspected. The risk of myopathy during treatment with other drugs in this class is increased with concurrent administration of cyclosporine, fibric acid derivatives, erythromycin, niacin, or azole antifungals. Physicians considering combined therapy with atorvastatin and fibric acid derivatives, erythromycin, immunosuppressive drugs, azole antifungals, or lipid-lowering doses of niacin should carefully weigh the potential benefits and risks and should carefully monitor patients for any signs or symptoms of muscle pain, tenderness, or weakness, particularly during the initial months of therapy and during any periods of upward dosage titration of either drug. Periodic creatine phosphokinase (CPK) determinations may be considered in such situations, but there is no assurance that such monitoring will prevent the occurrence of severe myopathy. Atorvastatin therapy should be temporarily withheld or discontinued in any patient with an acute, serious condition suggestive of a myopathy or having a risk factor predisposing to the development of renal failure secondary to rhabdomyolysis (eg, severe acute infection, hypotension, major surgery, trauma, severe metabolic, endocrine and electrolyte disorders, and uncontrolled seizures).

PRECAUTIONS: General — Before instituting therapy with atorvastatin, an attempt should be made to control hypercholesterolemia with appropriate diet, exercise, and weight reduction in obese patients, and to treat other underlying medical problems (see INDICATIONS AND USAGE in full prescribing information). Information for Patients — Patients should be advised to report promptly unexplained muscle pain, tenderness, or weakness, particularly if accompanied by malaise or fever. Drug Interactions — The risk of myopathy during treatment with other drugs of this class is increased with concurrent administration of cyclosporine, fibric acid derivatives, niacin (nicotinic acid), erythromycin, azole antifungals (see WARNINGS, Skeletal Muscle). Antacid: When atorvastatin and Maalox® TC suspension were coadministered, plasma concentrations of atorvastatin decreased approximately 35%. However, LDL-C reduction was not altered. Antipyrine: Because atorvastatin does not affect the pharmacokinetics of antipyrine, interactions with other drugs metabolized via the same cytochrome isozymes are not expected. Colestipol: Plasma concentrations of atorvastatin decreased approximately 25% when colestipol and atorvastatin were coadministered. However, LDL-C reduction was greater when atorvastatin and colestipol were coadministered than when either drug was given alone. Cimetidine: Atorvastatin plasma concentrations and LDL-C reduction were not altered by coadministration of cimetidine. Digoxin: When multiple doses of atorvastatin and digoxin were coadministered, steady-state plasma digoxin concentrations increased by approximately 20%. Patients taking digoxin should be monitored appropriately. Erythromycin: In healthy individuals, plasma concentrations of atorvastatin increased approximately 40% with coadministration of atorvastatin and erythromycin, a known inhibitor of cytochrome P450 3A4 (see WARNINGS, Skeletal Muscle). Oral Contraceptives: Coadministration of atorvastatin and an oral contraceptive increased AUC values for norethindrone and ethinyl estradiol by approximately 30% and 20%. These increases should be considered when selecting an oral contraceptive for a woman taking atorvastatin. Warfarin: Atorvastatin had no clinically significant effect on prothrombin time when administered to patients receiving chronic warfarin treatment. Endocrine Function — HMG-CoA reductase inhibitors interfere with cholesterol synthesis and theoretically might blunt adrenal and/or gonadal steroid production. Clinical studies have shown that atorvastatin does not reduce basal plasma cortisol concentration or impair adrenal reserve. The effects of HMG-CoA reductase inhibitors on male fertility have not been studied in adequate numbers of patients. The effects, if any, on the pituitary-gonadal axis in premenopausal women are unknown. Caution should be exercised if an HMG-CoA reductase inhibitor is administered concomitantly with drugs that may decrease the levels or activity of endogenous steroid hormones, such as ketoconazole, spironolactone, and cimetidine. CNS Toxicity — Brain hemorrhage was seen in a female dog treated for 3 months at 120 mg/kg/day. Brain hemorrhage and optic nerve vacuolation were seen in another female dog that was sacrificed in moribund condition after 11 weeks of escalating doses up to 280 mg/kg/day. The 120 mg/kg dose resulted in a systemic exposure approximately 16 times the human plasma area-under-the-curve (AUC, 0-24 hours) based on the maximum human dose of 80 mg/day. A single tonic convulsion was seen in each of 2 male dogs (one treated at 10 mg/kg/day and one at 120 mg/kg/day) in a 2-year study. No CNS lesions have been observed in mice after chronic treatment for up to 2 years at doses up to 400 mg/kg/day or in rats at doses up to 100 mg/kg/day. These doses were 6 to 11 times (mouse) and 8 to 16 times (rat) the human AUC (0-24) based on the maximum recommended human dose of 80 mg/day. CNS vascular lesions, characterized by perivascular hemorrhages, edema, and mononuclear cell infiltration of perivascular spaces, have been observed in dogs treated with other members of this class. A chemically similar drug in this class produced optic nerve degeneration (Wallenian degeneration of retinogeniculate fibers) in clinically normal dogs in a dose-dependent fashion at a dose that produced plasma drug levels about 30 times higher than the mean drug level in humans taking the highest recommended dose. Carcinogenesis, Mutagenesis, Impairment of Fertility — In a 2-year carcinogenicity study in rats at dose levels of 10, 30, and 110 mg/kg/day, 2 rare tumors were found in muscle in high-dose females: in one, there was a rhabdomyosarcoma and, in another, there was a fibrosarcoma. This dose represents a plasma AUC (0-24) value of approximately 16 times the mean human plasma drug exposure after an 80 mg oral dose. A 2-year carcinogenicity study in mice given 100, 200, or 400 mg/kg/day resulted in a significant increase in liver adenomas in high-dose males and liver carcinomas in high-dose females. These findings occurred at plasma AUC (0-24) values of approximately 6 times the mean human plasma drug exposure after an 80 mg oral dose. In vitro, atorvastatin was not mutagenic or clastogenic in the following tests with and without metabolic activation: the Ames test with Salmonella typhimurium and Escherichia coli, the HGPRT forward mutation assay in Chinese hamster lung cells, and the chromosomal aberration assay in Chinese hamster lung cells. Atorvastatin was negative in the in vivo mouse micronucleus test. Studies in rats performed at doses up to 175 mg/kg (15 times the human exposure) produced no changes in fertility.

There was aplasia and aspermia in the epididymis of 2 of 10 rats treated with 100 mg/kg/day of atorvastatin for 3 months (16 times the human AUC at the 80 mg dose); testis weights were significantly lower at 30 and 100 mg/kg and epididymal weight was lower at 100 mg/kg. Male rats given 100 mg/kg/day for 11 weeks prior to mating had decreased sperm motility, sperm head concentration, and increased abnormal sperm. Atorvastatin caused no adverse effects on semen parameters, or reproductive organ histopathology in dogs given doses of 10, 40, or 120 mg/kg for two years.

Pregnancy — Pregnancy Category X: See CONTRAINDICATIONS. Safety in pregnant women has not been established. Atorvastatin crosses the rat placenta and reaches a level in fetal liver equivalent to that of maternal plasma. Atorvastatin was not teratogenic in rats at doses up to 300 mg/kg/day or in rabbits at doses up to 100 mg/kg/day. These doses resulted in multiples of about 30 times (rat) or 20 times (rabbit) the human exposure based on surface area (mg/m²). In a study in rats given 20, 100, or 225 mg/kg/day, from gestation day 7 through to lactation day 21 (weaning), there was decreased pup survival at birth, neonate, weaning, and maturity in pups of mothers dosed with 225 mg/kg/day. Body weight was decreased on days 4 and 21 in pups of mothers dosed at 100 mg/kg/day; pup body weight was decreased at birth and at days 4, 21, and 91 at 225 mg/kg/day. Pup development was delayed (rotarod performance at 100 mg/kg/day and acoustic startle at 225 mg/kg/day; pinnae detachment and eye opening at 225 mg/kg/day). These doses correspond to 6 times (100 mg/kg) and 22 times (225 mg/kg) the human AUC at 80 mg/day. Rare reports of congenital anomalies have been received following intrauterine exposure to HMG-CoA reductase inhibitors. There has been one report of severe congenital bony deformity, tracheo-esophageal fistula, and anal atresia (VATER association) in a baby born to a woman who took lovastatin with dextroamphetamine sulfate during the first trimester of pregnancy. LIPITOR should be administered to women of childbearing potential only when such patients are highly unlikely to conceive and have been informed of the potential hazards. If the woman becomes pregnant while taking LIPITOR, it should be discontinued and the patient advised again as to the potential hazards to the fetus. Nursing Mothers — Nursing rat pups had plasma and liver drug levels of 50% and 40%, respectively, of that in their mother's milk. Because of the potential for adverse reactions in nursing infants, women taking LIPITOR should not breastfeed (see CONTRAINDICATIONS). Pediatric Use — Treatment experience in a pediatric population is limited to doses of LIPITOR up to 80 mg/day for 1 year in 8 patients with homozygous FH. No clinical or biochemical abnormalities were reported in these patients. None of these patients was below 9 years of age. Geriatric Use — Treatment experience in adults age ≥70 years with doses of LIPITOR up to 80 mg/day has been evaluated in 221 patients. The safety and efficacy of LIPITOR in this population were similar to those of patients <70 years of age.

ADVERSE REACTIONS: LIPITOR is generally well tolerated. Adverse reactions have usually been mild and transient. In controlled clinical studies of 2,502 patients, <2% of patients were discontinued due to adverse experiences attributable to atorvastatin. The most frequent adverse events thought to be related to atorvastatin were constipation, flatulence, dyspepsia, and abdominal pain. Clinical Adverse Experiences — Adverse experiences reported in ≥2% of patients in placebo-controlled clinical studies of atorvastatin, regardless of causality assessment, are shown in the following table.

The following adverse events were reported, regardless of causality assessment in patients treated with atorvastatin in clinical trials. The events in italics occurred in ≥2% of patients and the events in plain type occurred in <2% of patients.

Body as a Whole: Chest pain, face edema, fever, neck rigidity, malaise, photosensitivity reaction, generalized edema. Digestive System: Nausea, gastroenteritis, liver function tests abnormal, colitis, vomiting, gastritis, dry mouth, rectal hemorrhage, esophagitis, eructation, glossitis, mouth ulceration, anorexia, increased appetite, stomatitis, biliary pain, cheilitis, duodenal ulcer, dysphagia, enteritis, melena, gum hemorrhage, stomach ulcer, tenesmus, ulcerative stomatitis, hepatitis, pancreatitis, cholestatic jaundice. Respiratory System: Bronchitis, rhinitis, pneumonia, dyspnea, asthma, epistaxis. Nervous System: Insomnia, dizziness, paresthesia, somnolence, amnesia, abnormal dreams, libido decreased, emotional lability, incoordination, peripheral neuropathy, torticollis, facial paralysis, hyperkinesia, depression, hypesthesia, hypertonia. Musculoskeletal System: Arthritis, leg cramps, bursitis, tenosynovitis, myasthenia, tendinous contracture, myositis. Skin and Appendages: Pruritus, contact dermatitis, alopecia, dry skin, sweating, acne, urticaria, eczema, seborrhea, skin ulcer. Urogenital System: Urinary tract infection, urinary frequency, cystitis, hematuria, impotence, dysuria, kidney calculus, nocturia, epididymitis, fibrocystic breast, vaginal hemorrhage, albuminuria, breast enlargement, metrorrhagia, nephritis, urinary incontinence, urinary retention, urinary urgency, abnormal ejaculation, uterine hemorrhage. Special Senses: Amblyopia, tinnitus, dry eyes, refraction disorder, eye hemorrhage, deafness, glaucoma, parosmia, taste loss, taste perversion. Cardiovascular System: Palpitation, vasodilatation, syncope, migraine, postural hypotension, phlebitis, arrhythmia, angina pectoris, hypertension. Metabolic and Nutritional Disorders: Peripheral edema, hyperglycemia, creatine phosphokinase increased, gout, weight gain, hypoglycemia. Hemic and Lymphatic System: Eosinophilia, anemia, lymphadenopathy, thrombocytopenia, petechia. Postintroduction Reports — Adverse events associated with LIPITOR therapy reported since market introduction, that are not listed above, regardless of causality assessment, include the following: anaphylaxis, angioneurotic edema, bullous rashes (including erythema multiforme, Stevens-Johnson syndrome, and toxic epidermal necrolysis), and rhabdomyolysis.

OVERDOSAGE: There is no specific treatment for atorvastatin overdosage. In the event of an overdose, the patient should be treated symptomatically, and supportive measures instituted as required. Due to extensive drug binding to plasma proteins, hemodialysis is not expected to significantly enhance atorvastatin clearance.

Elvis Forever!

Twenty-five years after Elvis's death, William F. Buckley Jr., renowned commentator and author of Elvis in the Morning, explores the eternal life of the crown prince of love and loneliness

When I visited Graceland, I was shown all the conventional rooms, outbuildings, promenades, collections, play courts, exhibits. I then came upon the cordon that stretches across the staircase leading up to the living quarters. I said to my host, Jack Soden, who runs the entire enterprise, could he take me upstairs? No, he said. It is a flat rule, nobody is allowed up there. "I even turned down Vice President Gore when he asked me." I understood, and Jack Soden understood, in turn, my curiosity to see where Elvis had actually last been alive.

It was just after two in the afternoon of August 16, 1977—early in the day, by Elvis's standards. His girlfriend, finding him gone from the bedroom, thought to look for him in his vast bathroom, knocked, got no answer and opened the door. He was lying on the floor. She called out for help. Efforts to bring him to life were adamantly futile—they kept on trying even in the ambulance, even though they knew that the King was dead. A half hour later, at Baptist Memorial Hospital, the people began to assemble. The physicians first, then the special friends and family. Then the press, then the fans. One problem was to communicate the fact of his death officially to the assembly. The two people assigned the job couldn't get on with it; they broke down. Finally it was done by a medical technician. Those last hours—the last weeks and months, really—were nothing to spend time on, let alone to celebrate. When a legendary hero dies after a winner-take-all struggle with a disease that wracks him in mind and body, you don't really want to go upstairs and look down on the scene where he had drawn his last breath. Elvis's body was a battleground of drugs and a wasteland of self-indulgence. Better to think of him—why not?—as a man who died from eating one too many chocolate bars. That's the best way to think of what did him in.

A couple of hours after midnight, he had summoned two or three members of his entourage (never mind that they had been asleep) because he thought he'd play a little racquetball. Elvis wanted the company he wanted when he wanted it. They played for a while, then he horsed around a bit with Billy, his cousin. He aimed his racket wrong and hit himself on the shin: "Boy, that hurts." Billy countered playfully, "If it ain't bleedin', it ain't hurting," quoting one of Elvis's favorite lines. Elvis laughed and threw his racket at him.

Then, around dawn, he sat down at the piano in the lounge area. He played a few notes, a tune or two, and then went with Willie Nelson's mournful "Blue Eyes Crying in the Rain." He loved those sad songs, and he had a lot to be sad about. That included the terrible reviews he had been getting on his tours. They were saying that he had lost his genius, that he was fat and bored, that his memory was slipping. He handled that problem, and most others, by getting more pills from Dr. Nick, aka Dr. George Nichopoulos, his personal physician. The doctors at the morgue fancied up a death certificate that nicely obscured what had gone on in his system. The BioScience lab people even disguised the name of the patient whose stomach they had plumbed; but after a while it leaked that "Ethel Moore" was really Elvis Presley, and that 14 drugs had been found in his system. When Elvis died, the mourning was deep.

And yet Elvis Presley has eternal life. It's everything about Elvis, not just his songs, that some people want, many of them not even alive when he died. Six hundred thousand people visit Graceland every year, and half of them are under 35. Elvis Presley Enterprises has 110 licenses out, marketing over 700 products. Carol Butler, who is the director of licensing, has an efficient way of putting it: "He is the world's best-selling artist, having sold more than one billion albums and singles worldwide." On June 21, Walt Disney Pictures released "Lilo & Stitch," an animated adventure featuring five of the King's recordings.

A FUNKY DUTCH DJ HELPS THE KING SCORE HIS LATEST HIT

Lawdy, Miss Clawdy! Elvis lives—on the radio and in record stores.

"A Little Less Conversation," his beat-crazy new hit single, is shaking things up for the King. Originally less than two minutes long, the song—from the 1968 film "Live a Little, Love a Little"—only reached No. 69 on the charts when it was released. But thanks to a remix by Junkie XL (above), a 34-year-old Dutch techno artist who designed the cut for Nike's ambitious World Cup ad campaign, the single has become an international hit. It soared to No. 1 in the United Kingdom and, at press time, has charted in the rest of Europe, parts of Asia and the United States, selling more than one million copies worldwide.

The success is a shock to executives at Elvis's label, BMG/RCA Records, who released the single with the hope of boosting the King's profile prior to the release of the CD Elvis 30 #1 Hits, due out September 24. "We never anticipated that [the song] would be a radio hit," says Richard Sanders, executive vice president and general manager of RCA Records. The popularity of the tune (it gave the King his 18th No. 1 single in the U.K., more than any other artist there, including the Beatles) led to its being included as a bonus track on the coming #1 Hits release.

Junkie XL (aka JXL), born Tom Holkenborg, has mixed music for such films as "Blade." For the ad, he chose the Elvis tune, written by country singer Mac Davis and guitarist Billy Strange, because he thought its line "a little less conversation, a little more action" worked well in summing up World Cup soccer. To liven up the sound, he added drum and bass tracks. "Without touching the core of the song, I thought I could do something really 2002 with it," he has said. "The only way to pull it off is to make it believable, like Elvis was in the studio with you." The remix marks the first time Elvis Presley Enterprises and BMG/RCA allowed a contemporary artist to meddle with an Elvis tune.

D.J. Fontana, 71, Elvis's original drummer, bought the three-track single at a local Wal-Mart in Nashville. He thinks his old boss would have liked it, "although it's completely different from what he would do," he says. "I like the way it works. It didn't lose voice quality at all." Adds Fontana, "They should let that guy from Holland do some more." —Mary Huhn bed." Jalapeño Chicks is on the market with a BBQ spice, Jailhouse Rock; a Cajun spice, King Creole; and an all-purpose seasoning called G.I. Blues. Clothes of every sort bear his imprint. If you want one of everything Elvis-minded, don't forget the Zippo lighter with a silk-screen design. It's $130. Elvis wouldn't have used one because he didn't smoke. He didn't approve of smoking. He hardly ever drank. You see, he opposed drugs. He talked President Nixon into giving him a badge in the Drug Enforcement Agency. When he called on Nixon in the White House, Elvis wore his new jeweled, oversize glasses. He had on a dark Edwardian jacket with brass buttons. It draped like a cape around his shoulders, above a purple velvet V neck with matching pants. These were set off by the massive gold belt presented to him by a grateful hotel in Las Vegas. Over a collared, open-neck white shirt, he wore the gold lion's-head pendant he had recently purchased in Beverly Hills. Why did he dress up the way he did, including the $25,000 glittery jumpsuits on display at Graceland? Because, as he had told Sam Phillips, who began it all in his little recording studio in 1953, he liked to be himself.

He certainly succeeded. The Uninhibited Man. He began as a shy, even timid postulant, an 18-year-old who just wanted to sing and kept looking for a break. Marion Keisker worked for the Phillips recording studio and had a radio talk show on the side. One day she asked the kid who kept coming in to try out one more song on a $3.98 acetate. "What kind of a singer are you?" "I sing all kinds." She persisted: "Who do you sound like?"

"I don't sound like nobody."

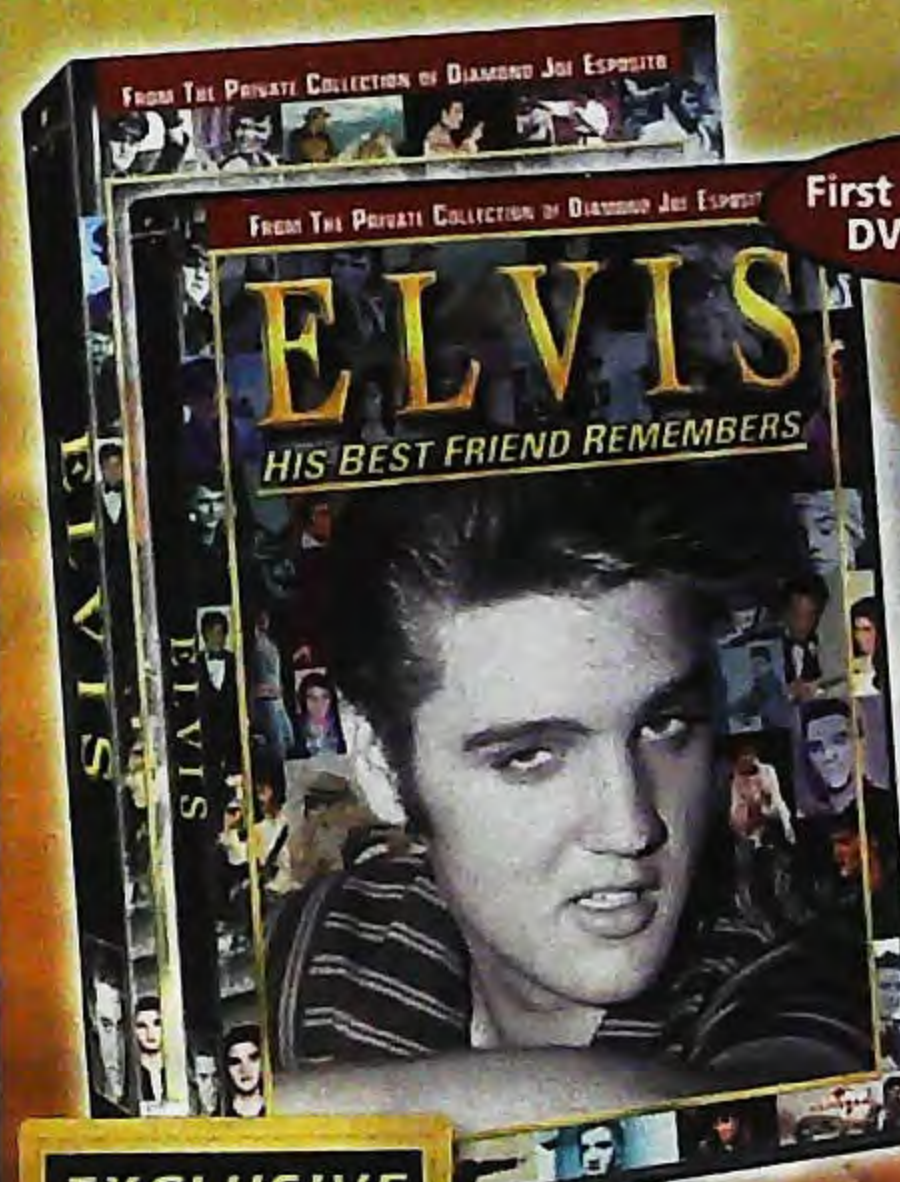

That was conceded by the critics just one year later.

This year, as an anniversary present, a fresh Elvis record, a remix of "A Little Less Conversation," reached No. 1 in the U.K. (See "A Lot More Action," page 18.) What made that special for the world of Elvis is that the King outdistanced the Beatles. He now has more No. 1 singles than any artist in the history of the U.K.—to say it again, more even than the beloved Beatles (18 versus 17). RCA/BMG will just keep going with it. Next is a new album: Elvis 30 #1 Hits.

Yes, he was the King of Rock and Roll. But many who care deeply about his music most admire Elvis the balladeer—the Elvis of "One Night With You," to pick out only one of the songs that sing out love and loneliness, and inspire love and dispel loneliness.

William F. Buckley Jr. is the author of the novel Elvis in the Morning (Harvest Books). His current book is Nuremberg: The Reckoning (Harcourt Brace).

How Loving You, Elvis's second movie, mirrored the dramatic rise of the legendary performer

In 1957, Elvis Presley still seemed dangerous to a significant chunk of the American populace, particularly white middle-class parents. He was too loud, too sexual. Every time he appeared in public, something close to a riot broke out.

For Elvis's manager, Colonel Tom Parker, the key to ensuring his client's long-term success was finding a way to make him safe for mainstream America. "Loving You," Elvis's second feature film, which airs this week on NBC to commemorate the 25th anniversary of his death, was part of Parker's plan. Released in July 1957, when Elvis was just 22 years old, the movie provided millions of people with a big-screen taste of what all the fuss was about.

Unlike his 1956 feature-film debut, "Love Me Tender," a post-Civil War drama in which Elvis had third billing, "Loving You" was a star vehicle loosely based on his own rise to fame. It is the tale of small-town deliveryman Deke Rivers, who gets a break with a hillbilly band and, before he knows what hit him, is mobbed by teenage girls and heading for a showstopping appearance on national television.

"I like to think that Elvis and Deke Rivers were pretty much the same guy," says Hal Kanter, now 83, who cowrote the screenplay and directed the film. "I thought I was writing [about] a sweet, honest, sincere, hardworking young man. Looking back, I think it's probably the most realistic portrayal of what Elvis really was."

In fact, when he made "Loving You," Elvis was still something of an innocent. "He was not as sophisticated at that point," Kanter remembers. "He was just a kid, but he was a very bright, shrewd and observant young man." One conversation still stands out in Kanter's mind. "The first question he asked me was, 'Do I have to smile much in this movie? Because the guys that I like the most, like Brando and James Dean and Humphrey Bogart, they never smile. The women love that, and then when they do smile, it becomes like a big event.' And I thought, 'This kid didn't just fall off the turnip truck.'"

Naturally, Elvis was most impressive when he sang, and the film includes vibrant, swivel-hipped performances of "Teddy Bear," "Got a Lot o' Livin' to Do" and the title ballad, written by Jerry Lieber and Mike Stoller, who'd written "Hound Dog" and would later create "Jailhouse Rock." Lieber, now 69, was wowed by Elvis. "I didn't think Elvis knew anything about blues or a lot of things," he says. "It turns out he knew an awful lot." (Lieber is less enthusiastic about his and Stoller's work on "Loving You," however. "We didn't think a lot of the songs we wrote for Presley were top-drawer," he says—then jokes, "Later on, when we got to be such monumental icons, we changed our minds.")

In December 1956, a month before filming began, Kanter accompanied Elvis on an all-night drive from Memphis to Shreveport, Louisiana, where Elvis made his final appearance on the "Louisiana Hayride" radio program. There the director saw firsthand what it was like to be pursued by teenagers, hearing what he later described as "shrill, deafening, roof-lifting screams."

Kanter then went back to Hollywood and retooled his screenplay to incorporate what he'd witnessed—the girls trying to sneak backstage, the jealous boyfriends, the adoration bordering on hysteria. It's all in the film's final performance sequence: Elvis in blue jeans, his legs shaking, his hair flopping onto his forehead, with his real-life band—bassist Bill Black, drummer D.J. Fontana and guitarist Scotty Moore—playing behind him. Elvis's parents, Vernon and Gladys, are there, too, clapping along.

Given the chance, Kanter says, Elvis could have become a formidable actor, and Elvis often talked about how he would have liked making movies that gave him something more to do than kiss, fight and sing. But that would never happen; Colonel Parker wouldn't allow it. It wasn't part of the plan. —Joe Rhodes

About a boy: Elvis, as Deke, rocks out.

□ Loving You airs Saturday, August 17, 8:30 P.M./ET, on NBC.

They can't stop loving him

Stars sing the praises, and share their memories, of Elvis

"I loved the music he did before he went into the Army. When he came back, it wasn't as raw. [But] he had it—all the intangibles that go into somebody understanding how to express himself as a performer. And there was no self-consciousness about it—it was pure talent meets the right temperament meets the right music. You know, 200 million people go by, and then God goes, 'OK, you get it'—and he was the guy that got it." —GLEN BALLARD, MUSIC PRODUCER

"Screw the Rolling Stones, Elvis was first. The first time I heard his music, I thought, 'Wow, this is something from my parents' generation, and it is so sexy.' It gets you right in the gut. He really did have that thing. And I think it was a cross to bear for him, too. You don't know why he was chosen—on this earth, in this lifetime—to bridge that gap, to take that forbidden black music [and] sexuality, and to channel it into his beautiful face and body. It's almost unearthly." —SOPHIE B. HAWKINS, SINGER

"Elvis made people realize that they had a different kind of spirit in them. Imagine a small country boy, and all of a sudden he's made into this icon, but he begins to challenge people and how they see music in relationship to their bodies. He had a different spirit in him. He was elevated." —DANNY GLOVER

 "A lot of whites weren't listening to rock and roll until Elvis came along and was in the sugar shacks down South. He would hang out there, and that was considered coloreds' music. Elvis was the first to say, 'I don't care. I'm going to play this music.' And that music crossed over. Imagine what Eminem is able to do now for hip-hop. Although I don't agree with all his lyrics, it has that same manifestation." —TOMMY DAVIDSON, COMEDIAN

He had it: Elvis shakes his pelvis, circa '56.

"The first thing I did on stage was lip-synch 'Hound Dog' with my Cub Scout troop. Elvis taught me and billions of teenagers that we had bodies—just don't eat too many fried peanut butter sandwiches! Right now I have in my car [his song] 'A Little Less Conversation,' the No. 1 single!" —JOHN RITTER, 8 SIMPLE RULES... (premieres this fall)

"If I had to pick one Elvis song to record, it would be 'Burning Love,' which I got to do for 'Lilo & Stitch.' I've always loved Elvis because he was unique. He came from a very pure place, and I think he loved music with all his being. I have two children, Elijah and Grace, and they are singing his music. The King is still king." —WYNONNA, SINGER

"God, it is so funny to think that [he] was risqué, but he pushed the envelope and he was a great singer. 'A Little Less Conversation' [is a hit] because it's still a great song, and it still must touch people. It's probably a better song than a lot of songs that are out." —DIANE WARREN, SONGWRITER

"My mother was in love with him, and she said that if Elvis had proposed to her [instead of] my father, Elvis could have been my father—although she never met him, so go figure." —NANCY TRAVIS, BECKER

"I respect the fact that even when they didn't want him to do his little dance, he still would do it. He was definitely cute, and his costumes were outrageous." —BEYONCÉ KNOWLES, DESTINY'S CHILD

In 1970 (below); post-Army

"I have always felt a personal connection to Elvis. My mom grew up in Memphis and when she was a teenager, my aunt Frances and aunt Estelle, who has the same birthday as Elvis, knocked on his door and his mother answered and said, 'Elvis isn't here, but you can come in and wait for him.' So they did, and when Elvis came home on his motorcycle, he sat and talked to them for a while. Elvis was obviously a force of nature and internationally famous, but when you visit Memphis, you realize how loved he still is and how much of a hometown boy he really was." —EMILY PROCTER, CSI: MIAMI (premieres this fall)

"When I was a teenager, Elvis was totally passé, and I went to Tahoe with my dad [where] Elvis happened to be playing at Harrah's. My dad slipped the guy [at the door] a twenty, and we got the best seat in the house. It was a mind-altering experience because he was heavy. He was sweaty. He had more overwhelming charisma than anybody I've ever seen, and by the end of that show, we were all completely, madly in love with him. What he radiated, I have never experienced before." —MIMI ROGERS

"The first night I stayed up all night was with Elvis. I was 13, and it was the night of the big earthquake in 1971. My stepfather had been [in the service] with Elvis, so he said, 'Let's drive to Vegas and see Elvis!' We saw the late show, and Elvis invited us back to his penthouse afterward. We stayed up all night, and his wife, Priscilla, gave me a beautiful opal and diamond ring. It's a very clear memory I will never forget."

-MELANIE GRIFFITH

"I can remember to the second the first time I heard 'Heartbreak Hotel.' I was 10 years old. I was on roller skates on the sidewalk outside my house, and I heard it on the radio and was dumbstruck. More than anything, it was about his voice, which was one of the great instruments of the 20th century. Particularly early Elvis—that fusion of bluegrass and black blues sung by a white man with that operatic baritone was extraordinary. Sadly, he became a kind of rule book for how not to deal with [stardom]. He was the canary in the mine for that kind of appalling international success, which really hadn't been possible before it happened to him."

-TIM CURRY, FAMILY AFFAIR (premieres this fall)

"I started having a connection with Elvis about a year before I did [the 1990 movie] 'Wild at Heart.' I became fascinated with the Elvis myth and with his story. If there's an entertainer today who personifies the American dream, it's Elvis Presley."

Another impersonator, Oy vey!

SCHMELVIS, "THE JEWISH ELVIS," SEARCHES FAITHFULLY FOR THE KING'S JEWISH ROOTS

Despite the white jumpsuit and long sideburns, Schmelvis—aka Dan Hartal—is no mere Elvis impersonator. "I consider myself a tribute artist," says the Canadian-born Orthodox Jewish singer, with a sly grin. Inspired by a 1998 Wall Street Journal article, which included a theory that Elvis had a Jewish great-great-grandmother, the 38-year-old headed to Graceland to discover the truth for himself, a journey that was captured on film in the 2002 documentary "Schmelvis: Searching for the King's Jewish Roots." "The first time I heard his voice, I knew," Schmelvis says. "I said to myself, 'This is what you have to be. This is what you gotta do.'"

So, emulating the King is your calling? The first record I ever listened to was "Hound Dog," and for my bar mitzvah, all I wanted to do was see Elvis perform live in concert. I always felt a spiritual connection to the King. Elvis is in my veins!

How do you differ from other "tribute artists"? I take Elvis songs and do my own version. [The line] "Treat me like a fool" [from "Love Me"] is now "Treat me like a mensch," and "Love Me Tender" is now "Love My Blender." Plus all my lyrics are about food, because Jews are preoccupied with eating.

What similarities do you share with Elvis?

Elvis used to make beautiful young women swoon, and Schmelvis can sometimes make women at the old-age home pass out.

What does the future hold for Schmelvis? It has been said that by 2005, one out of every five people will be an Elvis impersonator. I think by 2007, one out of every three people in North America will be a Schmelvis impersonator. —Paul S. Katz

BACHELOR

When Alex Michel chose Amanda Marsh over 24 other beautiful women on The Bachelor, millions of viewers wished them a fairy-tale ending. Now Marsh is working as a DJ back in Kansas while Michel remains in California—and that huge diamond ring may never sparkle on her finger

FARTHER

Day has suddenly turned black as night in sweltering Kansas City, Kansas: Rain pounds, thunder cracks, and trees whip back and forth under an angry Midwestern sky. Amanda Marsh, 23, The Bachelor's chosen one, takes shelter in the offices of local powerhouse rock and roll station 98.9 FM, the Rock, where she's in training to be a disc jockey on the Saturday-night shift. The tall, hazel-eyed blond exudes the same warm personality viewers got to know during last spring's six-week run of the hit ABC reality series. But now Marsh looks tired and drawn. And the roiling weather is a perfect symbol for her internal struggle. "I've got to get things figured out," she says miserably.

When she told her family she was staying in Kansas and not moving to Los Angeles to be with The Bachelor's Alex Michel, her mother cried. "I was so relieved," says homemaker

PHOTOGRAPHED BY RON BERG

Joyce Cornell, 53. "[My mom] told me," says Marsh, "I don't think he really cares."

A recap: Marsh captured the heart of Michel, 32, a Harvard and Stanford grad who was billed as a San Francisco-based management consultant looking for marriage. He was set up in a spectacular Malibu oceanfront estate and sent out on extravagant dates with 25 hopefuls. The show's producers, taking every opportunity to showcase Michel contemplating a $25,500 Harry Winston diamond ring (paid for by the production company), led viewers to believe there would be an on-air engagement. But when push came to proposal, Michel held out the ring in its beautiful box, then snapped the lid shut. He never proposed. What he did was suggest that Marsh leave Kansas, move to California and keep dating him.

She said yes, exhibiting such radiance and hopefulness that many felt this made-for-TV romance had a real chance. But that was April. The cameras have stopped rolling. The tidal wave of publicity has ended. And what has happened to the couple in the ensuing three months is far from romantic. Ask Marsh if you can find true love on TV, and she says simply, "No."

She says she still has feelings for Michel, whom she talks to almost every day, "but I'm not trusting him." Why? She says none of the contestants knew that Michel had already quit his San Francisco job and she had no inkling that he harbored show business aspirations (he now concedes that he is taking acting lessons). He sprang the news on her, she says, the day after they shot the finale. (Michel initially spoke with TV GUIDE for its coming Returning Favorites issue. But after the magazine interviewed Marsh in Kansas, he declined to address certain issues, saying in a statement that he "didn't want to air any differences of opinion in a public forum.") It was also an eye-opener for her to read that he had applied to be on CBS's Survivor: Marquesas before he landed the Bachelor gig. ("I thought, 'This guy really wants to be an actor,'" she says.)

In an interview just after the April finale, Michel said he had no intention of becoming an actor and didn't have an agent. But in fact, he had already signed with the powerful talent agency International Creative Management. "We contacted Alex after seeing the first couple of episodes and signed him before the finale," says his agent, Cal Boyington.

Michel doesn't see a problem. "This celebrity is a fact of my life," he told TV GUIDE. "So taking advantage of it makes sense." He's doing just that, having made a cameo appearance on NBC's Rerun Show (as a date who comes to the door in a remake of a Partridge Family episode in which he is called "the bachelor"). He was also hired to do new voice-over commentary for a repeat airing of The Bachelor, which was slated for last week on ABC's Family Channel. Marsh was stunned when she learned of this through a reporter. "Why wouldn't he tell me that?" she wonders. "I guess I really don't know him well at all."

For Marsh, red flags were already waving when she should have been the happiest: on the night the taped finale was televised. The two (who had been kept apart for almost two months while the show aired) were put up in a plush New York City hotel to watch the show; that way, they could be available to the national media the following morning. But as the episode aired, Marsh was surprised to see Michel caressing runner-up Trista Rehn, 29, a pediatric physical therapist and Miami Heat dancer (and now chosen to be the first Bachelorette in a new series set for January). Michel told Rehn that if he had to choose that minute, "I'd probably pick you"—a mere 24 hours before he "proposed" to Marsh. "He would try to reassure me," says Marsh, recalling that painful night, "and I was like, 'You need to not talk to me right now.'"

Then the two were flung into a publicity frenzy, including ABC's Good Morning America and the syndicated series Extra and Entertainment Tonight. They were paraded down Disneyland's Main Street (Disney owns ABC), attended the MTV Movie Awards and were guests at such Hollywood premieres as "Spider-Man" and "The Sum of All Fears." Michel was eating it up, says Marsh: "He really likes attention." And while she enjoyed being in the spotlight for a while, (Continued on page 55)

GO AHEAD, CALL
SIMON COWELL A CRUEL CAD. THE
AMERICAN IDOL
JUDGE WILL JUST SAY HE'S GOT A JOB TO DO:
FIND A STAR

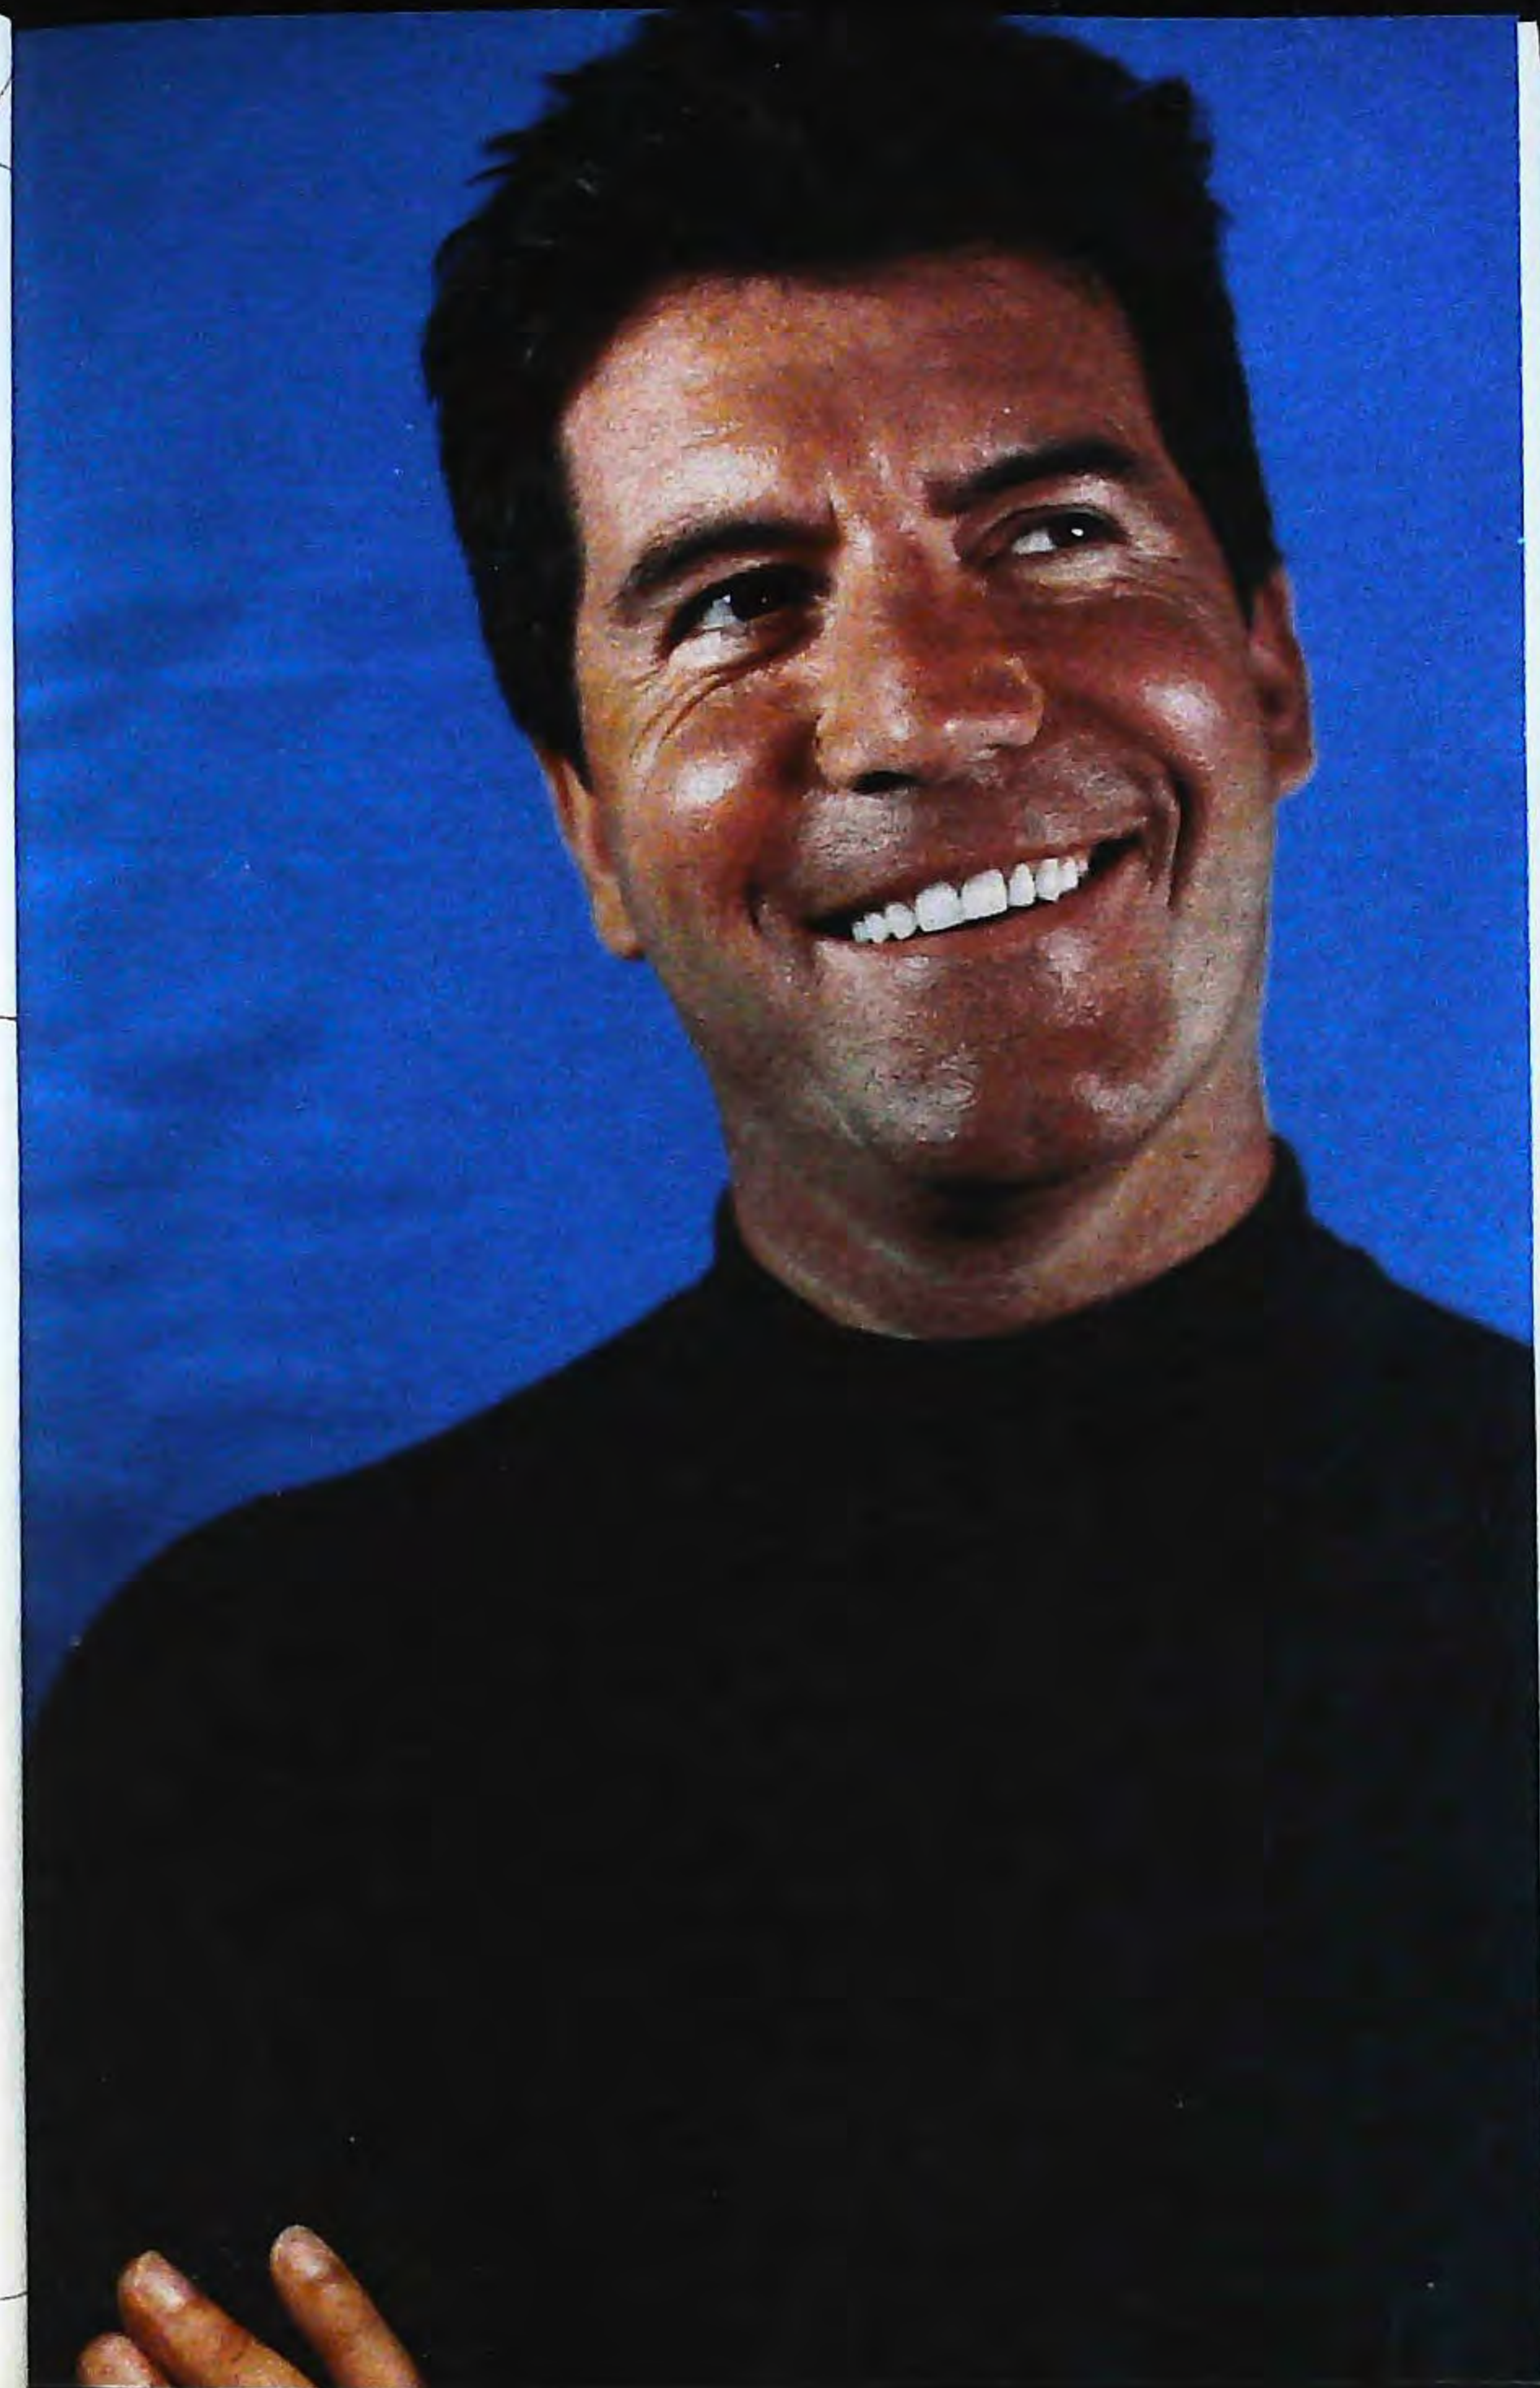

SIMPLY SIMON

One would-be Britney is in tears. Another contestant, hoping to become the next Ricky Martin, is flinching, as if on the receiving end of a full body blow. They've just sung their hearts out for American Idol's three judges—'80s pop princess Paula Abdul, Grammy-winning record producer Randy Jackson and British hit maker Simon Cowell—and the verdicts have been rendered. The guy from across the pond is astoundingly harsh.

"I'm sorry," Cowell says. "Average. Seriously, we have to get this competition back on track. In the last two episodes, two losers have been voted through..." Abdul and Jackson stare at him in disbelief. "You can't call people 'losers,'" Jackson bellows. "This is America. We don't insult people like that."

But the Maestro of Misery is having none of it. In a now-infamous battle that erupted last month after weeks of strained civility—and that firmly set the gloves-off tone for Fox's summer runaway hit, American Idol: The Search for a Superstar (Tuesdays, 9 P.M./ET; Wednesdays, 9:30 P.M./ET)—Cowell goes in for the kill. He's staking his claim again as arguably the most entertaining thing about the show: "In my opinion, they are losers and they do not deserve to be in this competition."

"I call it 'Extreme Auditioning,'" says Abdul of the increasingly tense set. She is quick to remind you that she is the only one of the three judges who has gone through the ego-deflating tryout process many times herself—as a singer, dancer and Laker Girl cheerleader. That's why you see her pounce when

Simon unleashes his verbal tirades. "He's angry, he's from England, he's got Mad Cowell disease," she said during one memorable blowout. Abdul has even taken the unusual step of hiring a professional comedy writer, Billy Riback (Home Improvement), to come up with sharp one-liners to help her hold her own with the man England has dubbed "Mr. Nasty."

You can only hope, for her sake, that Cowell doesn't rake her over the coals once he finds out. "The second day I was in America," he says, "I was given a script by one of the producers, and I said, 'What's this? None of this is scripted. Take it back and don't ever give it to me again, because I don't know what I'm going to say until someone's sung in front of me.'"

But Abdul clearly thinks Simon the Terrible is all about overkill. "When someone says, 'Thank you for coming in,' that's rejection. But no one has said to me, 'You suck, you're terrible, give it up.' If this is how it really was, this sadistic, there would be no entertainment industry."

"That," Cowell says later, "is one of the most stupid things I have ever heard anybody utter in my life." He is sitting in his dressing room after the show, relaxed, smoking. He doesn't ask if you mind. "Seriously, if she wants to start the Paula Abdul Foundation of Let's Be Nice to People in Auditions, then everyone can go live in la-la land with rose-tinted glasses. Is she going to take [the losers'] calls in six months' time? Is she going to give them money? No. And I'm not. I couldn't care less what happens to them."

Which probably makes you think that Cowell, 42, should be roasted on a stick as the Meanest Man Alive. But according to Simon Fuller, American Idol's creator and a friend, Cowell is actually "charming, not rude. But he's pretty forthright." (Fuller also created Pop Idol, the hit British precursor to the U.S. version, on which he and Cowell served as judges.) Cowell, who's behind more than 25 million album sales and 17 No. 1 singles in the United Kingdom, simply wants you to see him doing his job, warts and all: "I wanted this show to be the closest thing to the music industry ever shown on TV...not a particularly nice place."

Fuller dreamed up Pop Idol as an ingenious way of finding the Next Big Star. (You cast a pretty wide net by auditioning 10,000 hopefuls.) But here's the real payoff: If the audience votes for the winner, then they will be emotionally invested and more inclined to buy records. Which is just what they did in the U.K., giving the winner and the runner-up No. 1 singles. (Both were released by Cowell's label, S Records, a division of music giant BMG.)

Cowell and Fuller have dibs on the American winner and at least some of the runners-up. Their star-making machine is already in motion, with the pair set to have each of the top three finalists record the same power ballad. This deft move will allow RCA to release the winner's rendition September 28, less than a month after the September 4 finale. And who will those finalists be? Early on, Justin Guarini was a heavy favorite, but Cowell didn't agree: "I think there are a lot of people in there who you've only seen a small side of." At press time, Cowell was clearly behind Tamyra Gray, telling her it would be "total madness" if she doesn't win.

His advice to contestants? "Grow up. When I look in that red room and I see them patting each other on the back, I'm thinking, 'You're just a bunch of lying hypocrites. Because if you actually are happy that one of your competitors has outsung you, leave the show.'"

So who is this guy causing all the commotion? One of the most articulate high school drop-outs (Cowell left school at 16) you'll ever meet. He is one of six children who grew up in a well-to-do London suburb. His father, Eric (who died in 1999 of a heart attack), was an executive in the real estate division of record company EMI. His mother, Julie, 76, was a cabaret dancer in London's West End theaters in her early days. So the young Simon had music in his veins, "no qualifications" and no patience for anything as mundane as a nine-to-five job. When he didn't want to use his father's connections, his mother sent an application in to EMI for him, which landed him a job in the mail room at 17.

It was 18 years, he says, and a school of hard knocks before he made any money in the record business. Cowell idolized record producer Pete Waterman, who dominated the British pop charts in the 1980s, and followed him around "like a dog for two or three years." "He said my ideas stunk," Cowell says, "but he took me under his wing, I think, because I have broad enough shoulders to respect his honesty. I've always respected people who've said things to my face. It's when they lie and talk behind your back that it's hurtful."

Which may explain why Simon has no sympathy for the young rivals now facing rejection. "They want to win this competition to be a star and be rich," he says. (The winner gets a reported $1 million record contract.) "So if, along the way, someone says, 'You're not very good,' what's wrong with that? I just don't understand the fuss."

Cowell is savvy enough to understand that his brutal critiques have great entertainment value. He has a book coming out next year called The X Factor (Arrow), which will include his advice on getting into the record business and no-holds-barred assessments of some of the most famous pop stars on the scene: Michael Jackson? "Past it." Britney Spears? "Great songs, not great voice." Whitney Houston? "A star." Janet Jackson? "Overrated."

But with Pop Idol, he became a star, top, making him fair game for the British tabloids. "I had a feeling that if I ever went on TV, being 42 and a bachelor, I was in trouble," he says. "I've dated so many undesirable women—the kind of girls who would go running off to a newspaper, which they did, spilling every detail about your sex life. [Cowell can count stripper Georgina Law among them.] I did feel sorry for myself, and then somebody said, 'You know what, Simon? If people want to write about your sex life, that's their problem. It's not life-shattering.'"

Now he says he has a new girlfriend, but declines to name her. He also surrounds himself with exes. "They are my best friends," he says. "So many of them have gotten married now and are in the most hideous relationships." And they come running back? "Always. I think

I REALLY DO BELIEVE [PAULA ABDUL] WANTS TO GET IT ON WITH ME. SHE'LL DENY IT, BUT I CAN FEEL IT

"I'm a great substitute."

You have to give him credit. Knowing that his bachelor status would be an issue, Cowell faced shock jock Howard Stern, who repeatedly asked if he was gay. Cowell laughed, denied it and then agreed that he looked gay on TV. But he says he "would rather be thought of as gay by some people than a lech, because at my age a male lech is the most pathetic person in the world. I'm not going to sleep with most people who watch this show. So whatever they think of me, it doesn't bother me, because I know what I am."

As for his relationship with Abdul, "I just dislike her and I think she dislikes me even more." But? "From her to me, there's a lot of sexual tension," he says. "I really do believe she wants to get it on with me. She'll deny it, but I can feel it."

Abdul's response? "It'll be a cold day in hell."

Back on the set, it's time to say good-night. Abdul and Jackson stick around for more than an hour, hugging the contestants, congratulating some, consoling others. There are many tears. Cowell says a few words to the director, and then he's out of there. "Would you want to stick around and talk to these kids after saying those kinds of things?" asks cohost Brian Dunkleman. "I think he realizes they don't even want to talk to him."

And yet the American public can't wait to hear what he has to say next.

After appearing in a lineup of short-lived series, Mariska Hargitay picks a winner with Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

"I don't smile on this show," Mariska Hargitay says matter-of-factly as she sits in a New York City courtroom, preparing to shoot a scene for NBC's drama Law & Order: Special Victims Unit (Fridays, 10 P.M./ET). Her dour demeanor on screen is understandable, given that her character, Det. Olivia

Benson, spends her days investigating rapes and sex crimes against children. But once the cameras stop rolling, Hargitay is quick to shed both Benson's suit jacket and her no-nonsense persona. Bounding through the halls, she greets each cast and crew member by name, and when she joins a knitting circle composed of the show's makeup artists, she's quick to notice one woman's progress. "You're a pro, baby!" she says.

Such enthusiasm has been known to melt even hardcore rapper and SVU costar Ice-T. "On my birthday, I had a flight to make and we weren't gonna get done [in time]," he says. "I was having a breakdown. Mariska said, 'I'll take your lines,' and got me written out of that shot. She's a lady."

She has also helped producer Dick Wolf's sober spin-off become a hit. (During its recent third season, SVU ranked 14th among regularly scheduled prime-time network programs.) "Mariska has great empathy, and viewers respond to that," says SVU executive producer Neal Baer, a former ER writer who met Hargitay in 1997, when she landed a recurring role as Mark Greene's girlfriend. Off camera, he says, "she has an infectious spirit. You need that on a show that deals with the stuff we deal with."

Hargitay admits SVU can take a toll. "I have dreams about it," says the 38-year-old actress. "When I'm on the subway, I'm always scanning for suspicious-looking people. This show can be dark on the soul."

Hargitay knows about dark places. The only daughter of '50s screen siren Jayne Mansfield and former Mr. Universe Mickey Hargitay, the actress was just 3 when Mansfield was killed in a 1967 car crash. (Mariska, who was asleep in the backseat with brothers Miklos, then 8, and Zoltan, 6, suffered head injuries and carries with her a "zigzag scar down the side of my head"—though, thankfully, no memories of the grisly accident.) Early in Hargitay's career, her bombshell mother cast a long shadow. Casting directors often remarked, "I thought you'd be blond, like your mother." When reporters asked about Mansfield, Hargitay, who has only faint memories of her mother making breakfast, grew frustrated. She found herself shying away from overtly sexual roles, determined to be taken seriously as an actress.

Then came her 34th birthday—the same age Mansfield was when she died. Confronting the ominous year was a turning point. "I realized the only way out of the darkness is through [it]. You have to face your demons. Now I feel like, 'Yeah, that's my mom, and wasn't she pretty?'" says Hargitay, who was raised in Los Angeles by her Hungarian-born dad and her stepmother, Ellen, a flight attendant. The single actress is also inspired by the fact that "when my mom was younger than me, she was not only a movie star driving around in a pink Cadillac full of Chihuahuas, she was a wife raising five kids. She was a superhero."

Hargitay has pulled off a pretty impressive feat of her own. After years of appearing in a long list of short-lived series (Cracker, Prince Street), she's found stardom at an age when most actresses begin settling for supporting roles. "I'm not a spring chicken, but I'm glad success didn't come when I was younger," she says. "Things happen for a reason, and I wasn't supposed to be here until now." —Shawna Malcom

ADDERALL XR: Patient-friendly treatment for ADHD

Finding the right medication may help you see a big difference in how your child feels about himself or herself and what he or she is able to accomplish all day, every day! Ask your doctor about once-daily ADDERALL XR, the ADHD treatment option that provides effective, all-day symptom control in a single morning dose.¹⁻³

Ask your doctor if a change to patient-friendly ADDERALL XR could be right for your child. And start talking to your child about all the things that he or she does well even in the face of ADHD!

You can also access ADDERALLXR.com or call 1-888-774-3000 for more information.

ADDERALL XR is for patients with a confirmed diagnosis of attention-deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD). ADDERALL XR was generally well tolerated in clinical studies of children 6 years and older. The most common side effects are decreased appetite, loss of sleep (insomnia), abdominal pain, and emotional lability. ADDERALL XR should not be prescribed for patients with symptomatic cardiovascular disease, moderate to severe high blood pressure, glaucoma, hyperthyroidism, known allergy to this type of medication, agitated states, or history of drug abuse or within 14 days of administration of a MAO inhibitor.

Amphetamines have a high potential for abuse. Caution is advised in patients with a history of high blood pressure or mental illness. Report any new psychological symptoms to your physician. There is a potential for worsening of motor and phonic tics and Tourette's syndrome.

BRIEF SUMMARY:

Consult the full prescribing information for complete product information.

ADDERALL XR™ CAPSULES

CII Rx Only

AMPHETAMINES HAVE A HIGH POTENTIAL FOR ABUSE. ADMINISTRATION OF AMPHETAMINES FOR PROLONGED PERIODS OF TIME MAY LEAD TO DRUG DEPENDENCE. PARTICULAR ATTENTION SHOULD BE PAID TO THE POSSIBILITY OF SUBJECTS OBTAINING AMPHETAMINES FOR NON-THERAPEUTIC USE OR DISTRIBUTION TO OTHERS AND THE DRUGS SHOULD BE PRESCRIBED OR DISPENSED SPARINGLY.

INDICATIONS

ADDERALL XR™ is indicated for the treatment of Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD).

The efficacy of ADDERALL XR™ in the treatment of ADHD was established on the basis of two controlled trials of children aged 6 to 12 who met DSM-IV criteria for ADHD, along with extrapolation from the known efficacy of ADDERALL®, the immediate-release formulation of this substance.

CONTRAINDICATIONS

Advanced arteriosclerosis, symptomatic cardiovascular disease, moderate to severe hypertension, hyperthyroidism, known hypersensitivity or idiosyncrasy to the sympathomimetic amines, glaucoma. Agitated states. Patients with a history of drug abuse.

During or within 14 days following the administration of monoamine oxidase inhibitors (hypertensive crises may result).

WARNINGS

Psychosis. Clinical experience suggests that, in psychotic patients, administration of amphetamine may exacerbate symptoms of behavior disturbance and thought disorder.

Long-Term Suppression of Growth: Data are inadequate to determine whether chronic use of stimulants in children, including amphetamine, may be causally associated with suppression of growth. Therefore, growth should be monitored during treatment, and patients who are not growing or gaining weight as expected should have their treatment interrupted.

PRECAUTIONS

General: The least amount of amphetamine feasible should be prescribed or dispensed at one time in order to minimize the possibility of overdose.

Hypertension and other Cardiovascular Conditions: Caution is to be exercised in prescribing amphetamines for patients with even mild hypertension (see CONTRAINDICATIONS). Blood pressure and pulse should be monitored at appropriate intervals in patients taking ADDERALL XR™, especially patients with hypertension.

Tics: Amphetamines have been reported to exacerbate motor and phonic tics and Tourette's syndrome. Therefore, clinical evaluation for tics and Tourette's syndrome in children and their families should precede use of stimulant medications.

Information for Patients: Amphetamines may impair the ability of the patient to engage in potentially hazardous activities such as operating machinery or vehicles; the patient should therefore be cautioned accordingly.

Drug Interactions: Acidifying agents—Gastrointestinal acidifying agents (guanethidine, reserpine, glutamic acid HCl, ascorbic acid, etc.) lower absorption of amphetamines.

Urinary acidifying agents—These agents (ammonium chloride, sodium acid phosphate, etc.) increase the concentration of the ionized species of the amphetamine molecule, thereby increasing urinary excretion.

Both groups of agents lower blood levels and efficacy of amphetamines. Adrenergic blockers—Adrenergic blockers are inhibited by amphetamines.

Alkalinizing agents—Gastrointestinal alkalinizing agents (sodium bicarbonate, etc.) increase absorption of amphetamines. Co-administration of ADDERALL XR™ and gastrointestinal alkalinizing agents, such as antacids, should be avoided.

Urinary alkalinizing agents (acetazolamide, some thiazides) increase the concentration of the non-ionized species of the amphetamine molecule, thereby decreasing urinary excretion. Both groups of agents increase blood levels and therefore potentiate the actions of amphetamines.

Antidepressants, tricyclic—Amphetamines may enhance the activity of tricyclic antidepressants or sympathomimetic agents; d-amphetamine with desipramine or protriptyline and possibly other tricyclics cause striking and sustained increases in the concentration of d-amphetamine in the brain; cardiovascular effects can be potentiated.

MAO inhibitors—MAOI antidepressants, as well as a metabolite of furazolidone, slow amphetamine metabolism. This slowing potentiates amphetamines, increasing their effect on the release of norepinephrine and other monoamines from adrenergic nerve endings; this can cause headaches and other signs of hypertensive crisis. A variety of toxic neurological effects and malignant hyperpyrexia can occur, sometimes with fatal results.

Antihistamines—Amphetamines may counteract the sedative effect of antihistamines.

Antihypertensives—Amphetamines may antagonize the hypotensive effects of antihypertensives.

Chlorpromazine—Chlorpromazine blocks dopamine and norepinephrine receptors, thus inhibiting the central stimulant effects of amphetamines and can be used to treat amphetamine poisoning.

Ethosuximide—Amphetamines may delay intestinal absorption of ethosuximide.

Haloperidol—Haloperidol blocks dopamine receptors, thus inhibiting the central stimulant effects of amphetamines.

Lithium carbonate—The anorectic and stimulatory effects of amphetamines may be inhibited by lithium carbonate.

Meperidine—Amphetamines potentiate the analgesic effect of meperidine.

Methenamine therapy—Urinary excretion of amphetamines is increased, and efficacy is reduced, by acidifying agents used in methenamine therapy.

Norepinephrine—Amphetamines enhance the adrenergic effect of norepinephrine.

Phenobarbital—Amphetamines may delay intestinal absorption of phenobarbital; co-administration of phenobarbital may produce a synergistic anticonvulsant action.

Phenytoin—Amphetamines may delay intestinal absorption of phenytoin; co-administration of phenytoin may produce a synergistic anticonvulsant action.

Propoxyphene—In cases of propoxyphene overdose, amphetamine CNS stimulation is potentiated and fatal convulsions can occur.

Veratrum alkaloids—Amphetamines inhibit the hypotensive effect of veratrum alkaloids.

Drug/Laboratory Test Interactions: Amphetamines can cause a significant elevation in plasma corticosteroid levels. This increase is greatest in the evening.

Amphetamines may interfere with urinary steroid determinations.

Carcinogenesis/Mutagenesis and Impairment of Fertility: No evidence of carcinogenicity was found in studies in which d,l-amphetamine (enantiomer ratio of 1:1) was administered to mice and rats in the diet for 2 years at doses of up to 30 mg/kg/day in male mice, 19 mg/kg/day in female mice, and 5 mg/kg/day in male and female rats. These doses are approximately 2.4, 1.5, and 0.8 times, respectively, the maximum recommended human dose of 30 mg/day on a mg/m² body surface area basis.

Amphetamine, in the enantiomer ratio present in ADDERALL® (immediate-release) (d- to l- ratio of 3:1), was not clastogenic in the mouse bone marrow micronucleus test in vivo and was negative when tested in the E. coli component of the Ames test in vitro.

d,l-Amphetamine (1:1 enantiomer ratio) has been reported to produce a positive response in the mouse bone marrow micronucleus test, an equivocal response in the Ames test, and negative responses in the in vitro sister chromatid exchange and chromosomal aberration assays.

Amphetamine, in the enantiomer ratio present in ADDERALL® (immediate-release) (d- to l- ratio of 3:1), did not adversely affect fertility or early embryonic development in the rat at doses of up to 20 mg/kg/day (approximately 5 times the maximum recommended human dose of 30 mg/day on a mg/m² body surface area basis).

Pregnancy: Pregnancy Category C. Amphetamine, in the enantiomer ratio present in ADDERALL® (d- to l- ratio of 3:1), had no apparent effects on embryofetal morphological development or survival when orally administered to pregnant rats and rabbits throughout the period of organogenesis at doses of up to 6 and 16 mg/kg/day, respectively. These doses are approximately 1.5 and 8 times, respectively, the maximum recommended human dose of 30 mg/day on a mg/m² body surface area basis.

Fetal malformations and death have been reported in mice following parenteral administration of d-amphetamine doses of 50 mg/kg/day (approximately 6 times the maximum recommended human dose of 30 mg/day on a mg/m² basis) or greater to pregnant animals. Administration of these doses was also associated with severe maternal toxicity.

A number of studies in rodents indicate that prenatal or early postnatal exposure to amphetamine (d- or d,l-), at doses similar to those used clinically, can result in long-term neurochemical and behavioral alterations. Reported behavioral effects include learning and memory deficits, altered locomotor activity, and changes in sexual function.

There are no adequate and well-controlled studies in pregnant women. There has been one report of severe congenital bony deformity, tracheo-esophageal fistula, and anal atresia (vater association) in a baby born to a woman who took dextroamphetamine sulfate with lovastatin during the first trimester of pregnancy. Amphetamine should be used during pregnancy only if the potential benefit justifies the potential risk to the fetus.

Nonteratogenic Effects: Infants born to mothers dependent on amphetamines have an increased risk of premature delivery and low birth weight. Also, these infants may experience symptoms of withdrawal as demonstrated by dysphoria, including agitation, and significant lassitude.

Use in Nursing Mothers: Amphetamines are excreted in human milk. Mothers taking amphetamines should be advised to refrain from nursing.

Pediatric Use: ADDERALL XR™ is indicated for use in children 6 years of age and older.

Use in Children Under Six Years of Age: Effects of ADDERALL XR™ in 3-5 year olds have not been studied. Long-term effects of amphetamines in children have not been well established. Amphetamines are not recommended for use in children under 3 years of age.

Geriatric Use: ADDERALL XR™ has not been studied in the geriatric population.

ADVERSE EVENTS

The premarketing development program for ADDERALL XR™ included exposures in a total of 685 participants in clinical trials (615 patients, 70 healthy adult subjects). These participants received ADDERALL XR™ at daily doses up to 30 mg. The 615 patients (ages 6 to 12) were evaluated in two controlled clinical studies, one open-label clinical study, and one single-dose clinical pharmacology study (N=20). Safety data on all patients are included in the discussion that follows. Adverse reactions were assessed by collecting adverse events, results of physical examinations, vital signs, weights, laboratory analyses, and ECGs.

Adverse events during exposure were obtained primarily by general inquiry and recorded by clinical investigators using terminology of their own choosing. Consequently, it is not possible to provide a meaningful estimate of the proportion of individuals experiencing adverse events without first grouping similar types of events into a smaller number of standardized event categories. In the tables and listings that follow, COSTART terminology has been used to classify reported adverse events.

The stated frequencies of adverse events represent the proportion of individuals who experienced, at least once, a treatment-emergent adverse event of the type listed.

Adverse events associated with discontinuation of treatment: In two placebo-controlled studies of up to 5 weeks duration, 2.4% (10/425) of ADDERALL XR™ treated patients discontinued due to adverse events (including 3 patients with loss of appetite, one of whom also reported insomnia) compared to 2.7% (7/259) receiving placebo. The most frequent adverse events associated with discontinuation of ADDERALL XR™ in controlled and uncontrolled, multiple-dose clinical trials (N=595) are presented below. Over half of these patients were exposed to ADDERALL XR™ for 12 months or more.

Adverse events occurring in a controlled trial: Adverse events reported in a 3-week clinical trial of pediatric patients treated with ADDERALL XR™ or placebo are presented in the table below.

The prescriber should be aware that these figures cannot be used to predict the incidence of adverse events in the course of usual medical practice where patient characteristics and other factors differ from those which prevailed in the clinical trials. Similarly, the cited frequencies cannot be compared with figures obtained from other clinical investigations involving different treatments, uses, and investigators. The cited figures, however, do provide the prescribing physician with some basis for estimating the relative contribution of drug and non-drug factors to the adverse event incidence rate in the population studied.

The following adverse reactions have been associated with amphetamine use:

Cardiovascular: Palpitations, tachycardia, elevation of blood pressure.

There have been isolated reports of cardiomyopathy associated with chronic amphetamine use.

Central Nervous System: Psychotic episodes at recommended doses, overstimulation, restlessness, dizziness, insomnia, euphoria, dyskinesia, dysphoria, tremor, headache, exacerbation of motor and phonic tics and Tourette's syndrome.

Gastrointestinal: Dryness of the mouth, unpleasant taste, diarrhea, constipation, other gastrointestinal disturbances. Anorexia and weight loss may occur as undesirable effects.

Allergic: Urticaria.

Endocrine: Impotence, changes in libido.

DRUG ABUSE AND DEPENDENCE

ADDERALL XR™ is a Schedule II controlled substance.

Amphetamines have been extensively abused. Tolerance, extreme psychological dependence, and severe social disability have occurred.

There are reports of patients who have increased the dosage to many times that recommended. Abrupt cessation following prolonged high dosage administration results in extreme fatigue and mental depression; changes are also noted on the sleep EEG. Manifestations of chronic intoxication with amphetamines may include severe dermatoses, marked insomnia, irritability, hyperactivity, and personality changes. The most severe manifestation of chronic intoxication is psychosis, often clinically indistinguishable from schizophrenia.

OVERDOSAGE

Individual patient response to amphetamines varies widely. Toxic symptoms may occur idiosyncratically at low doses.

Symptoms: Manifestations of acute overdose with amphetamines include restlessness, tremor, hyperreflexia, rapid respiration, confusion, assaultiveness, hallucinations, panic states, hyperpyrexia and rhabdomyolysis.

Fatigue and depression usually follow the central nervous system stimulation. Cardiovascular effects include arrhythmias, hypertension or hypotension and circulatory collapse. Gastrointestinal symptoms include nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, and abdominal cramps. Fatal poisoning is usually preceded by convulsions and coma.

Treatment: Consult with a Certified Poison Control Center for up-to-date guidance and advice. Management of acute amphetamine intoxication is largely symptomatic and includes gastric lavage, administration of activated charcoal, administration of a cathartic and sedation. Experience with hemodialysis or peritoneal dialysis is inadequate to permit recommendation in this regard. Acidification of the urine increases amphetamine excretion, but is believed to increase risk of acute renal failure if myoglobinuria is present. If acute severe hypertension complicates amphetamine overdose, administration of intravenous phentolamine has been suggested. However, a gradual drop in blood pressure will usually result when sufficient sedation has been achieved. Chlorpromazine antagonizes the central stimulant effects of amphetamines and can be used to treat amphetamine intoxication.

The prolonged release of mixed amphetamine salts from ADDERALL XR™ should be considered when treating patients with overdose.

Dispense in a tight, light-resistant container as defined in the USP.

THEIR TV SERIES MAY QUICKLY COME AND GO,
BUT SOME ACTORS KEEP GETTING ANOTHER SHOT...
AND ANOTHER...AND ANOTHER

cast aways

If at first you don't succeed, don't worry—you'll get cast again. And again. That would seem to be the modus operandi this fall for some networks. Several new series feature actors whose previous full-time outings have tanked. While some have had good luck with guest stints on hits (as Dondré T. Whitfield did on Girlfriends and Paula Marshall did on Spin City), there are also some serial leads (you know who you are, Bonnie Hunt) and plenty of repeat supporting players. With the new season coming, we wish them luck. They've sure paid their dues.

PAULA MARSHALL
YOU MAY KNOW HER FROM SUCH SHOWS AS... Snoops (1999), Cupid (1998), Chicago Sons (1997), Wild Oats (1994) and a recurring role on Cursed aka The Weber Show (2000). LATEST SHOT She's one of the leads of NBC's Hidden Hills, along with fellow repeat offenders Justin Louis (Trinity, Battery Park) and Dondré T. Whitfield (see opposite page). CREDIT RATING Marshall is either cursed...or very fortunate.

DAVID CARUSO
HE'S BACK! Caruso found success on the first season of NYPD Blue, but his premature—and ill-conceived—departure is the case study for bad career moves. His movies flopped, and he came crawling back to TV in Michael Hayes (1997)— only to see that series fail. LATEST SHOT As a forensics investigator on CBS's spin-off CSI: Miami. CHANCES ARE The early buzz is that CSI: Miami could be the humbled Caruso's ticket to a comeback.

BONNIE HUNT
THE RERUN SHOW She played Bonnie Kelly in The Bonnie Hunt Show aka Bonnie (1995-96) and Bonnie Kennedy in The Building (1993). LATEST SHOT On ABC's Life With Bonnie, Hunt plays Bonnie Molloy, a frazzled mom who hosts a TV talk show. CREDIT RATING She's been hunting for a hit for years—and getting rave reviews but low ratings. Maybe she should play someone who's not named Bonnie.

ELON GOLD
YOU MAY KNOW HIM FROM... You're the One (1998), The Dana Carvey Show (1996), She TV (1994) and as a supporting voice in the animated version of Clerks (2000). LATEST SHOT As father-in-law-fearing newlywed Matt Landis in NBC's In-Laws, based on his own life. CREDIT RATING Gold's sketch-comedy stints showed off his comedic gift. CHANCES ARE Gold mined his life once before for the never-aired pilot Good as Gold. The second time could be the charm.

CHYLER LEIGH
YOU MAY KNOW HER FROM... Safe Harbor (1999) and the recent, short-lived That '80s Show (2002). LATEST SHOT She'll be part of David E. Kelley's Girls Club. YOU NEVER KNOW Leigh says her heart sank when That '80s Show was dropped by Fox, but the very next day she got word that Kelley wanted to meet her for his new show. She quickly got the part. "It was very much the roller-coaster ride," she says.

DONDRÉ T. WHITFIELD
YOU MAY KNOW HIM FROM... Inside Schwartz (2001), Secret Agent Man

(2000), Living in Captivity (1998), Between Brothers (1997) and The Crew (1995); he was also Terrence Frye on All My Children (1991-94). LATEST SHOT Hidden Hills. KEEPING HOPE ALIVE Whitfield's role model? The man who, after four failed series, made it big in ER: "I'm going to be the African-American George Clooney," he says.

ALFRED MOLINA
YOU MAY KNOW HIM FROM... Ladies Man (1999) as, well, the ladies' man; and supporting roles in such films as "Chocolat." TAKE TWO He'll now play womanizing author Bram Shepherd on CBS's Bram and Alice. CREDIT RATING Ladies Man never gained a footing, yet CBS signed Molina to another deal right away. Peter Golden, the network's senior vice president of talent and casting, defends the move, saying, "It's so much about the right fit." ■

THERE'S NO BUSINESS LIKE SLAW BUSINESS

His appearances on Late Show have made him a cold-cut hero, but he's no ham. Meet Rupert Jee, owner of the Hello Deli and New York City's most unlikely celebrity

BY MICHAEL MUSTO ■ PHOTOGRAPHED BY JOANNE CHAN

If Hello Deli were a few blocks further north, co-owner Rupert Jee would probably be a regular on ABC's All My Children. But since the joint is on West 53rd Street, right next to the Manhattan studio where they tape CBS's Late Show With David Letterman, he's on that program, and that's exactly where he belongs.

Plunked in the middle of the show's sardonic late-night mayhem, Jee and his nonplussed expressions are pricelessly welcome. With his winningly indistinct quality—Zelig crossed with Forrest Gump, but smarter—he's the best foil for some of Letterman's darker jokes since Larry "Bud" Melman. "He's so genuine and likable," says Jude Brennan, vice president of Worldwide Pants (Letterman's production company). "He brings a refreshingly non-showbiz element. He seems kind of innocent." The not-so-innocent Letterman has a less sentimental take. "There are 10,000 delis in New York City," he deadpans, "and Rupert Jee's is one of them."

The boyish-looking, fortysomething Chinese-American first turned up on the late-night chatfest in 1993—shortly after Letterman moved his show from NBC to CBS's Ed Sullivan Theater—in a segment called "Meet the Neighbors" that also made minor celebrities of Mujibur Rahman and Sirajul Islam (of K&L's Rock America), Joe G. (of Da Valentino Pizza) and Bart Dadon (of Academy Tuxedos).

When the cameras came to Hello Deli, a very reluctant star was born. "It scared the heck out of me," says Jee, who, though terrified of live audiences, received a standing ovation when he was brought into the studio. "It was very spontaneous," he says. "And I found myself doing crazier and crazier things as the years went on."

Soon enough, Jee was starring in "Fun With Rupert," in which he went around town saying purposely annoying things that Dave fed him via walkie-talkie. He did a tablecloth trick in a restaurant, trick-or-treated as Superman and asked McDonald's employees for a five-pounder. The ease with which he adopted these poses was as hilarious as the outraged reactions. "But it got a little too edgy," admits Jee, who was nearly assaulted by a rental-car attendant he obediently irritated, "and Dave said, 'Let's put an end to it.'"

That was the end of "Rupert," but not of Jee. He now helps with those Tuesday-night mini-game shows, such as Psychic Sandwich and Beat the Clock. ("To this day," he admits, "I'm trying to figure out their purpose.") Guest stars have also popped up in the deli—Jee sang "After the Loving" with Engelbert Humperdinck—and, most touchingly, the cold-cut meister provides the four-plus-pound meatball that tops the show's annual Christmas tree, a veritable angel of ground beef.

Want fries with that? Jee delivers fast food and fun.

Does he find all this existential madness funny? "Sometimes it's a bit extreme, but that's what makes Dave so popular," says Jee, chatting at one of Hello Deli's four cramped tables near the counter, which is fronted by signs announcing special sandwiches like—big surprise—the Letterman (turkey, ham, sweet peppers and American cheese). Even though the TV exposure has boosted his business by 20 percent, Jee's ambivalence about his fame is typified by the Rupert Jee T-shirts he sells at the deli and on his Web site. He kept the first shipment under the counter until Letterman featured them on the air. "I'm still selling that tacky T-shirt," Jee says. Showing off is just not this guy's cup of mayo. In fact, the native New Yorker actually never got around to telling his parents about his deli because "Asian parents tend to want the children to become professionals." (They didn't find out about the place until they saw their son on Late Show!)

The odd couple: Jee and Letterman have been coconspirators in comedy since 1993.

The road to salami heaven was definitely not what Jee expected. He majored in economics at the City College of New York, "and like Dave," he says, "I was a C student." He cut classes to sneak to the Belmont Park racetrack and went on to gamble on the garment trade. But when the early-'90s recession hit, he convinced his business partner, May Chin, to segue into triple-deckers. With Letterman's move to CBS in 1993, Jee's deli became the show's lunchroom. "The first day we were here, Rupert gave Dave a free turkey sandwich," says Late Show executive producer Rob Burnett. "That's how it started," adds Brennan. "Dave likes to celebrate the neighborhood. And Rupert knows everybody."

Even so, this popular guy says he hasn't met his significant other yet: "I was engaged, but that didn't turn out too well." Still, he's "universally loved," says Paul Shaffer, even though the musical sidekick's a bit miffed that Jee won't change the Shaffer sandwich (a chicken cutlet with cheese) "to something I would actually order." Jee's response? "Paul, everyone's yelling out your name. Stick with it." In fact, it's the store's top seller (the Letterman is a close second).

As yet another patron asks for a photo with Jee, you have to wonder where this off-beat success story is heading. Right now, Jee gets $798, union scale, per appearance (in return, he says, "I never charge Dave when he orders"), but could movie-star millions be in his future? "Dave makes the most ordinary thing funnier than it really is," he says. "I can't act if my life depended on it."

He doesn't need to; his guileless reactions are exactly what have made him so well known. In an age of flash, speed and insider know-how, Jee's aw-shucks sincerity has given him an edge. "Everyone's pretty shocked," he says. "Classmates from junior high have called. They never thought I'd end up owning a deli and getting so much attention!" As he goes back to his singular fate of selling pastrami and greeting fans, Jee adds, with typical understatement, "It's a weird life." ■

Michael Logan ON SOAPS

TRAVELING LIGHT A LEGENDARY STAR HITS SPRINGFIELD

Joan Collins has signed a six-month deal with the CBS-Procter & Gamble soap Guiding Light to play Alexandra Spaulding, the testy, take-no-prisoners tycoon last seen in 1999. But does the ex-Dynasty star know what she's in for? Let's face it, daytime soap work is no picnic at the Carrington estate. It's grueling and scary (and so, frankly, is the lighting on GL). Alas, La Collins—who starts taping August 26 and hits the air September 19—was vacationing and unreachable at press time. But our burning questions couldn't wait, so we fired 'em at P&G programming chief Mickey Dwyer-Dobbin.

You've hired a world-class diva. Is she prepared to rough it? I think Joan will fit in just perfectly.

But the GL dressing rooms are as glam and spacious as a Porta Pott!

She knows what the accommodations are in the world of daytime soap opera.

She does?

She does.

Are you sure?

[Getting irked] Well, we told her what to expect! Look, she'll be just fine.

You do five shows a week.

What about the insane

Ready for her close-up: Collins pace and all those lines?

From everything I've heard, Joan is the consummate professional and she'll be able to deal with it.

Won't it be weird that Alexandra suddenly sounds like a Brit?

Well, I think there are many people in life who come to adopt a new way of speaking—an accent that is to-the-manner-born.

Oh, you mean like Madonna? There you go—exactly!

Tribute

NANCY ADDISON ALTMAN 1948-2002

Marvelously versatile and gorgeous to boot, Nancy Addison Altman—who was 54 when she died June 18 after a three-year fight with cancer—had terrific success in the soaps. She was fragile nutcase Kit Vested on Guiding Light, fireball lawyer Jillian Coleridge on Ryan's Hope, secret agent Marissa Rampal on All My Children and monster mom Deborah Brewster on Loving and its spin-off, The City. "But acting didn't define Nancy," says her best friend, Kate Mulgrew (Star Trek: Voyager), who met Altman in 1975 when they costarred on Ryan's Hope. "Her true passion was for life. She was constantly exploring it, always trying to delve deeper and deeper into it, so much so that her death is still surreal. It's hard for me to believe that she's ashes." Even as Altman's illness progressed, the New York City-born star remained devoted to the Incarnation Children's Center, a Manhattan hospice for children with AIDS and HIV that—with the help of $3 million raised by Altman—has expanded from a small clinic to a large, full-service medical facility. Altman is survived by her husband of 20 years, TV executive Daniel Goldfarb, whom she remarried every single Valentine's Day.

the ROBINS REPORT

By J. Max Robins

WHAT WILL BE, A&E?
ONCE-MIGHTY NETWORK STRUGGLES TO REGAIN CREATIVE MOMENTUM
At age 18, A&E is having an identity crisis.

The cable network's franchise series—most notably Biography—have either faded or are about to disappear, and a revolving door of programming executives has failed to find the next generation of hits.

While the network continues to be a cash cow for its partners—the Walt Disney Company, the Hearst Corporation and NBC—industry insiders believe it has lost some of its programming luster.

"[A&E's] original programming hasn't been working," says Bob Flood, senior vice president and director of national electronic media at the media-buying firm Optimedia International. "It's a network that needs to be rejuvenated."

Executive vice president and general manager Dan Davids counters that A&E is fulfilling a well-defined mission. "We deliver life's great stories about remarkable people and places with original movies, our documentary series and specials," he says. But the fact is, the network desperately needs its own version of HBO's Six Feet Under and FX's The Shield, both breakout cable hits. In 2002, having a show with watercooler buzz is essential to growth.

One long-departed A&E executive says of the network, "This may be a brand dissolving right in front of our eyes. There's been Prejudice) and reruns of Law & Order.

But for the last two years, A&E has been on a downward slide, its prime-time audience dropping by about 20 percent. In July, the channel didn't even crack the cable Top 10 in its target 25 to 54 audience. Revenues are projected to be down slightly from the $500 million earned in 2001.

Not surprisingly, this has prompted changes in the executive suites. Late last month, Allen Sabinson, who was named senior vice president of programming in April 2001, was shown the door—the latest in a succession of senior programmers who have exited over the last two years.

"We needed a change in leadership to refine where we put our energies," says Davids, who is serving as the interim head of pro-too much complacency for too long."

A&E, founded in 1984, enjoyed a long run as a perennial Top 5 cable network on the strength of Biography, blue-chip original movies ("The Crossing"), miniseries (Pride &

gramming. "Everybody knows our ratings have not been as strong as we'd like them to be. But you can't pinpoint it on any one thing."

Indeed, several elements have contributed to A&E's woes. 100 Centre Street, a high-profile attempt at an original drama series, was canceled midway through its second season. Nero Wolfe, the network's one surviving original drama, has only been a middling success. An attempt to lure female viewers by airing repeats of The View after its morning ABC airing has yet to produce much of an audience.

Although Biography has been a network fixture for 15 years, its ratings among viewers 18 to 49 have slipped 31 percent since 2000. The audience for A&E's pioneering format of celebrity profiles has been siphoned by such copycats as E!'s True Hollywood Story. If that wasn't trouble enough, in August the network will lose its Law & Order rerun franchise to TNT.

Certainly, A&E is not the only cable network facing tough times. Several once-hot channels have cooled considerably recently, ranging from A&E sister network the History Channel to CNBC to VH1. Yet other established cable networks, including Lifetime, MTV and USA, have grown.

A&E executives say they are developing a plan to reinvigorate the network. There's hope that reruns of the NBC drama Third Watch, which begin this September, will fill the gap left by Law & Order. Davids touts several specials slated for the fall, including a new movie version of the sci-fi thriller "Lathe and Minute by Minute, both launched this summer.

"We'd love to have one of the new buzz shows," Davids says. "But for us it's more likely to come with a documentary series. The economics are more difficult with dramas."

The bottom line? An hour-long drama can cost upward of $1 million per episode, whereas a typical hour of Biography costs about $150,000.

But A&E may have to gamble more to stop its slide. "The name of the game is original programming. Otherwise, you're lost," says Larry Gerbrandt, chief content officer of the media research of Heaven," starring James Caan and Lisa Bonet, and The Lost World, a mini-series with Bob Hoskins and Peter Falk.

Bonet and Caan in Lathe of Heaven; Roberts to host Old Friends

And the network believes it will have a winner with Old Friends, a documentary hosted by Julia Roberts that traces 95 years of friendship among three women, two of whom are now 102 and one who is 103.

Davids says A&E has no plans for new dramatic series through 2003 but will continue to look to reality series such as Cold Case Files firm Kagan World Media. "A&E needs new shows that let the audience know again, like Biography once did, what Arts & Entertainment TV means."

BACHELOR FARTHER

"I got the feeling," says her new boss, the Rock's program director, Neal Mirsky, "that L.A. got old really fast." (Marsh says she was approached by Playboy to pose nude. Her reaction? "Gross.")

The glitter faded even more when Marsh arrived back in L.A. after a quick trip home to Kansas and found that Michel was "too busy" to pick her up at the airport. Marsh was staying with a cousin in Burbank, didn't have a car and didn't know her way around. More than once, she says, "he told me to get a cab to meet him at events." She shakes her head. "I was the one moving here for him. Where was my Romeo now?"

Things went from bad to worse as job leads dried up. She says that Michel (who quickly sublet a Brentwood house for himself) was no help in finding her an apartment. Feeling increasingly panicky, she says, she didn't know how, without a job, she could afford the $1,025-a-month one-bedroom she finally found in West Hollywood. She never signed a lease.

Finally, in mid-June, her health deteriorated. Marsh has suffered for the last two years from colitis, an inflammation of the colon. The condition is often stress-related. She had a flare-up in April (around the time of the finale), but "by June it got out of hand." So she decided to go home to Kansas and see her doctor. It was good timing. Because in the months during and after The Bachelor was on the air, she had made several guest appearances at the radio station the Rock. Mirsky had made a mental note that she was "a natural, so relaxed on the air." He told her to look him up if she ever needed a job.

But at that point, she says, she still thought she would move to Los Angeles to be with Michel. The final straw came when Michel reneged on his offer to help her drive from Kansas to L.A., she says. She didn't understand. "He doesn't have a job."

Marsh says she had had enough. "I was obviously not a priority of his, so he was not going to be a priority of mine."

Michel did tell TV GUIDE that Marsh's radio job "sounds cool" and "it wouldn't be a loving thing" to try to convince her to forgo the opportunity. He insists that he and Marsh are "happy—and going along as a regular couple and not trying to agonize about what challenges the future holds."

Marsh acknowledges that her family suspects Michel could be keeping the relationship alive as a means to stay in the limelight and further his show business career—a charge Michel strongly denies. "[Amanda] is great, and I have very strong feelings for her, and I wanted to get to know her better. And there's no other reason for me to have been dating her all this time. And any theories about some other reason are incorrect."

For Marsh, there were other disappointments related to The Bachelor. "The producers promised us that if there was something we said or did that we were uncomfortable with, they wouldn't put it in," says Marsh. So she says she asked them not to air the conversation in which Alex, riding with her in a New York City hansom cab, asks about her breast augmentation (from a C to a D). The segment ran. Mike Fleiss, the series's creator and executive producer, says he is "surprised" to hear that Marsh is unhappy. Asked if she requested the exclusion, he says, "I have no comment on that."

Michel did spend the Fourth of July weekend with Marsh and her family. His reaction to Kansas? "I'm a geographically open guy." Even if he is, it may be too late. Told by TV GUIDE that Michel is contractually obligated to return the diamond ring if he doesn't give it to her, Marsh didn't miss a beat: "I'm sure that ring is going back." ■

Susan Stewart's HITS AND MISSES

BRIEF REVIEWS OF THIS WEEK'S NOTABLE PROGRAMS

Inside the Actors Studio (Sun., BRV) EE Billy Bob Thornton's name really is "Billy Bob," and his mother is a psychic. He's all red-neck eccentricity in this interview, filmed before his split from wife Angelina Jolie (back when he still wore the infamous vial of her blood on a chain). Thornton happily does his "Sling Blade" character for host James Lipton and the audience. "I would never do this on a TV show," he says, forgetting he is on TV and demonstrating why Studio interviews are so revealing. MY SCORE (0-10): 8

Just a Walk in the Park (Sun., FAM) EE In this creaky romance, George Eads falls for Jane Krakowski, who thinks he's a sophisticated businessman when in reality he's a poor dog walker. Before she learns the truth, they have doggy dates in Central Park, where she opines on mutt love: "I've always felt that animal people are inherently loving." He's too goody-goody to intrigue us, and she's too irritating to live. If you crave a charming movie about dog owners in love, check out "101 Dalmatians." MY SCORE: 2

The Secret Life of Zoey (Mon., LIF) EE This teen-issue movie stars Julia Whelan (Once and Again) as a high schooler with a prescription-drug problem; Mia Farrow is her worried mother. Their quiet, thoughtful performances save Zoey from the hysteria that characterizes so many of these movies. There's weeping, but no rending of garments. Andrew McCarthy is a social worker who doesn't tell everybody how to behave because, as Zoey aptly demonstrates, there are no easy answers. MY SCORE: 7

Normal for Us: The Miller Twins (Tues., PBS) EE Believe it or not, this inspiring documentary has a lot to do with chairs. Normal tells the story of Mariya and Michelle Miller of Soldotna, Alaska, who were born with a form of muscular dystrophy that renders their legs useless. Conventional wheelchairs were restrictive, so mom Cindy and dad Fritz, a welder, worked with a friend on motorized chairs that let the girls, now 14, travel, hike and shoot baskets. Normal uses mechanics as a way to spotlight, without sentimentality, this family's heart and ingenuity. MY SCORE: 8

A Ring of Endless Light (Fri., DIS) EE During one busy island summer, 16-year-old Vicky (Mischa Barton) chooses between two boys, deals with her grandfather's failing health and talks to dolphins. Light, based on a Madeleine L'Engle novel, is full of ideas about art and science but doesn't skimp on action or romance. James Whitmore is wonderful as the grandfather, and you've got to love a movie where 17th-century mystic Henry Vaughan gets quoted. MY SCORE: 7

*Day and time of broadcast may vary in some areas.

the week's top shows DRAMAGUIDE

Six Feet Under (HBO, Sunday, 8 P.M./ET) The Fisher brothers (Peter Krause and Michael C. Hall) go to Las Vegas for an eventful undertakers' convention, with Brenda (Rachel Griffiths) along for the ride and her crazy brother (Jeremy Sisto) secretly shadowing them, in one of the series's finest and darkest episodes. A haunting subplot involves a baby who dies of SIDS, which disturbs Rico (Freddy Rodriguez), who must handle the funeral while his own pregnant wife is experiencing complications.

ER (TNT, Monday, 9 A.M./ET) George Clooney's swan song as Dr. Doug Ross is revisited in back-to-back episodes from 1999—consider it a nightmare flashback for those who feel life at the hospital has never been the same since he left. When Doug resigns after defying hospital protocol for the last time, his farewell scene with Carol (Julianna Margulies) is so moving in its quiet despair that it makes our knowledge of their eventual reunion at the end of the following season that much sweeter.

Gilmore Girls (WB, Tuesday, 8 P.M./ET) In this heartfelt episode, Lorelai (Lauren Graham) helps her daughter's earnest boyfriend, Dean (Jared Padalecki), cope with the fact that Rory (Alexis Bledel) may be moving on—to less noble Jess (Milo Ventimiglia). Rory, meanwhile, is distracted by a school project on which her grandfather (Edward Herrmann) becomes an overeager adviser. —Matt Roush

MOVIE PICK

A Face in the Crowd (TCM, Tuesday, August 20, 10:45 P.M./ET) A pre-Mayberry Andy Griffith scores in a blistering satire from director Elia Kazan and writer Budd Schulberg (the "On the Waterfront" team). Griffith is brilliant as Lonesome Rhodes, a guitar-playing bum who becomes a homespun TV star and then turns into a power-mad demagogue. Ahead of its time in its look at politics, advertising and celebrity, this gem features fine work by Patricia Neal, Walter Matthau and Lee Remick (her film debut). —Michael Scheinfeld

Damian J. Holbrook's [SOAPOPERA] Review

All My Children Last week (Aug. 12-16), Kendall heard something eerie in Trey's voice. David's former sins resurfaced. Anna received good and bad news. Maria shared a secret with Aidan, who flirted with a devious dame. Tad stole Maureen's files. Edmund and Brooke were about to get a shock.

As the World Turns Craig's deal with Marshall spelled heartbreak for Alison and Aaron. Sierra walked in on a family feud. Barb turned Will against Hal. Carly and Molly sent Mike a disturbing fax. Paul saved Simon from Slade as stormy seas capsized their escape plan.

Bold and the Beautiful Rick comforted an angst-ridden Erica. Sheila almost blew her cover. Taylor stumbled upon danger. An old friend popped up in Los Angeles. Amber's desperation set off a perilous chain of events.

Days of Our Lives Kate's tie to Roman irked Billie. Lexie lost Abe and had a fling. Nicole brought out the big guns to get Sami away from Brandon. Philip wanted to escape Salem with Chloe.

Tony was tormented by visions of Marlena and that creepy three-sided key.

General Hospital Skye and Edward had a fateful face-off. The Spencers were MIA as a homicide rocked P.C. Sonny caught Courtney's sexy show. Ned went above the law for Alexis's child's sake. Alcazar's lady friend pumped a captive Zander for info on Jax. Lucky made Scott's list of suspects.

Gulding Light Reva wound up in cuffs for her crime. A poisoned Carmen supplied Edmund info in exchange for an antidote. Bill filled Beth in on Lorelei's former life. Olivia hit a new low to snag Phillip. Marah caught Marina cozying up to Tony. Mel's career took a hit. Harley met her match in Eden, who made Gus an offer.

One Life to Live Troy feared Joanna's fate awaited Nora. Jen set a crafty trap to make Natalie and Cristian pay for their betrayal. Chad helped Blair move on. Rae turned the tables on Asa. Antonio's case against R.J. cost him Keri. Three looney ladies headed for a showdown.

Miss your favorite soap? Call TV Guide's Soap Update Hotline and find out what you missed. Updates are available after 5 p.m.

Passions Luis kept a dramatic secret to protect the ailing Antonio. Gwen's plot to drug Theresa backfired. Simone misread Chad's confession. Charity clung to life, while Tabby bid adieu to Timmy. Miguel's change of heart broke Kay's. A lost Crane came home to Harmony.

Port Charles Jack failed to heed Jamal's warning. Ian went after Chris for doing Lancelot's dirty work. Lucy sent Rafe reeling with talk of angels. The Avatar lured Alison and Danny toward danger. Livvie lit into her baby's daddy. The Shadow Man vanished with Karen.

Young and the Restless Lorie joined Max's scheme after a run-in with Nikki. Billy and Mac said a tearful goodbye. Raul finally met Brittany's unfriendly folks. Dru returned to grim news about Neil. Juice made his move. Warton shot down Jill's advances. Catastrophe loomed for a teen couple.

TRIPLE THREAT EXTRA-BASE HITTING HAS TURNED INTO A SINGLES SCENE

It's wholly appropriate that major-league ballplayers are threatening to walk off the job. They're certainly not inclined to run.

The growing indifference of professionals toward running to first base is something Tim McCarver won't suffer quietly. That's why we've long been fond of his analysis with ABC, CBS and now Fox. He's not a slave to the fashion that finds baseball's most fundamental fundamental passé.

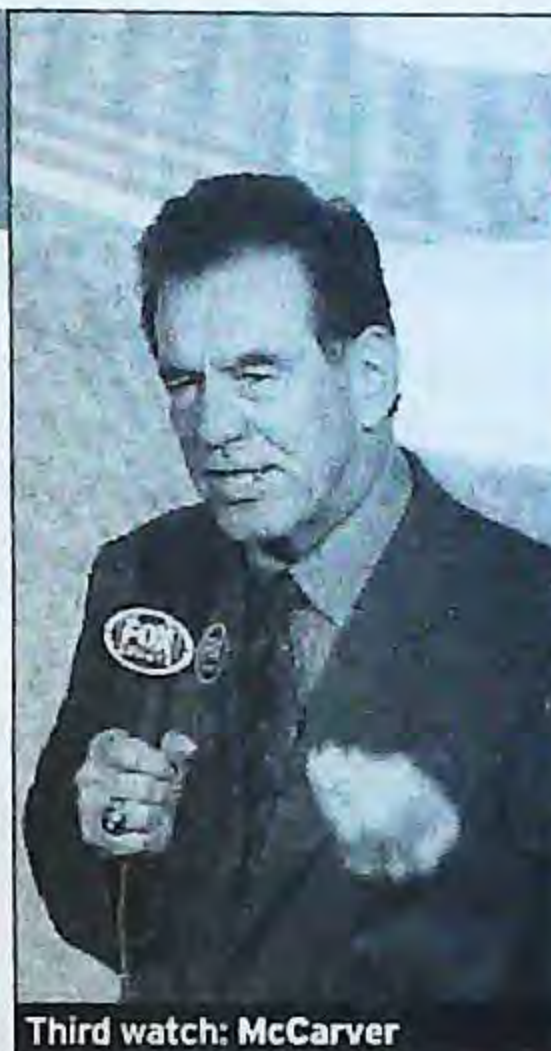

McCarver, with the help of researcher Steve Hirdt of the Elias Sports Bureau (baseball's official statistician), recently cited some stats that he says "are simply too significant to ignore." In every decade since the 1950s, there has been a decline in triples. In the '50s there were 57 triples per 100 games played. The number fell to 49 in the '60s, then 47 in the '70s, 45 in the '80s, 40 in the '90s and now 39 in the '00s so far.

"And baseball has increasingly placed a premium on speed," McCarver says, his voice rising to reflect his incredulity. "There really can't be any other explanation than that players, through the years, have gotten into the habit of standing around looking at the ball."

And why shouldn't they? Isn't the home plate-home run pose now baseball's most favored commercial snapshot? Doesn't it make all the nightly highlight reels? Isn't it the promo for the next game—even if the ball bangs off the wall and the batter pulls in with a stand-up single? Nowadays it seems there are at least as many posers as there are those who run even moderately hard at the crack of the bat.

"Understand that most triples are made by running hard from home to first, not just from second to third," says McCarver.

Third watch: McCarver

"The triple mostly comes from running hard right out of the box.

"Even the dynamics of the double have changed. So many doubles today find the batter pulling up at second base. They rarely round second. That too, in large part, is a by-product of not running hard out of the box."

One more thing: Today, unlike when McCarver was a catcher for the Cardinals, Phillies, Expos and Red Sox from 1959 to 1980, players are so disinclined toward running to first that, upon hitting a homer, they receive congratulatory handshakes from the first-base coach. It used to be that the batter was well past first when he went into his home run trot. "Just another indication," McCarver says, "of how the game is now played."

MUSHNICK RANT

Once again, Bobby Knight, playing himself, is portrayed as a wild-eyed, raving lunatic in a TV commercial, this one for plastic containers that don't melt in dishwashers. In other words, he continues to cash in on a reputation that he both rejects and claims to abhor. We call it the John McEnroe Formula.

The Conair 2002
BOOK

Great new stuff

you never dreamed you'd have...

and now you've got it from Conair!

CONAIR®

Push-button Braids!

Quick Braid™ is easy, fun, fast. It creates trendy new double or triple strand braids — automatically! Comes with beads, bands and batteries.

Instant Glamour!

Go from straight to sexy, curvy waves and curls with the 20-roller (8 jumbos!) Instant Heat Hairsetter. It heats up — ready to roll in 2 minutes!

Untense Toes!

Foot Bath with Water Jet (that no other spa has) treats your feet to vibration, heat, bubbles, plus a buffer, scrubber & smoother for soft, pretty feet.

Quiet-time Drying!
Wavelengths™ is 1875 watts' worth of quiet Conair power that shuts up so you can style while listening to music or talking. A soft 'finger' diffuser enhances texture and waves.

Cords Away!

The 1875 watt folding-handle Cordkeeper™ retracts its own cord with a push-button, for neat, untangled storage.

Pampered Me!

The next best thing to your own spa: Body Benefits® Thermal Spa Soft Bath Mat turns the water into a warm, bubbling massaging treat.

"I want more styles, more shine,
more everything,
—my own spa?—
more guy stuff, too!

From Conair!"

Soft Skin!

Nothing soothes, smooths, softens hands and body like your own lotion, warmed in this Heated Lotion Dispenser. Mmmm.

Stick-straight strands!

Straight Styles™ steam straightener smooths and straightens hair easily while adding gentle steam for shine.

Ion Shine: Magic Management!

A pair of marvels: full-sized or folding handle Ion Shine™ dryers that neutralize ions to reduce frizziness, enhance shine and create healthy, conditioned hair.

"...a movie-star smile for me, a maid for us, guy groomers for him..."

1-2-3-Smile!

The Triple Action Power Plaque Remover has an 8-tuft rotating brush head that's clinically-proven to remove plaque - and a comfortable soft-grip handle - the latest from legendary Interplak®.

Pulse Power!

2650 pulses per minute with 7 pressure settings make the Interplak Dental Water Jet an ideal enemy of plaque by-products and causes of gum disease.

Busy Barber!

It's a complete professional 20-piece Deluxe Haircutting Kit with how to video, carbon steel blade clipper & 9 attachment combs for cuts, trims, tapers on any head of hair.

Trimmer Trims

The ultimate tool for every trendy new facial hair style: the XT10™ Pivot Head Dual Volt Beard & Mustache very precise Trimmer.

Comfort Shaves

It's easy on the skin and feels as good as old barber shop shaves: a Hot Lather Machine that holds most shave cream cans.

Portable Pro Press

What every wardrobe and house hold fabric needs: Steam pressing. The Deluxe Garment Steamer, easier than ironing, wheels from job to job.

CLOSE-UP

ELVIS ON AMC
SAT. 9:30 AM (AMC)

Elvis is all shook up in a day of programming that includes his first and last movies, along with two documentaries. ■ Elvis '56 (1987). Vintage clips and home movies chart Presley's rise to the top in 1956.

■ "Love Me Tender" ★★ (1956). The King's film debut was in this Western, notable for its title song. ■ "Change of Habit" ★★ (1969). In his final film, Elvis plays a hip inner-city doctor opposite Mary Tyler Moore as a nun. Trivia note: Ed Asner costars, a year before he and Moore teamed for her sitcom. ■ "Easy Come, Easy Go" ★ (1967). Elvis dives for treasure off the California coast. ■ Elvis in Hollywood (1994). A look at his silver-screen career. [Coverage of the King begins on p. 16 of the feature section.]

PGA CHAMPIONSHIP (CC)
SAT. 10 AM (TNT) 1 PM (2) SUN. 10 AM (TNT) 1 PM (2)

A Minnesota Major The last major of the year concludes at Hazeltine National in Chaska, Minn. (Live)
"It's a good, solid, straightforward golf course," says commentator Lanny Wadkins. "I think it could be a good week for the iron players. It doesn't really favor the big hitters." Designed by Robert Trent Jones in 1962, a young Hazeltine layout took some heat at the 1970 U.S. Open from runner-up Dave Hill ("They ruined a good farm.") Natural development and reworkings by Jones and his son Rees helped to upgrade the course and bring back the Open in '91. David Toms won the title in Atlanta last year, when he held off Phil Mickelson on the final hole.

event's inaugural gold medal last year. Getz has a long way to go to catch stunt bicyclist Dave Mirra, who tomorrow looks to add to his record 13 medals. Skateboarding legend Tony Hawk competes on Sunday and Wednesday, while Moto X-perts Travis Pastrana and Tommy Clowers aspire to new heights in Monday's Step Up event (it's like pole vaulting on a motorcycle). Clowers cleared a record 33 feet last year.

SAT. 7 PM (5)

NBC commemorates the 25th anniversary of the death of Elvis Presley with an evening of programming (3:00)
■ Dateline NBC pays tribute to the King with a special half-hour episode that features archival footage and an interview with Priscilla Presley.
■ Elvis's first starring role was in his second film, 1957's

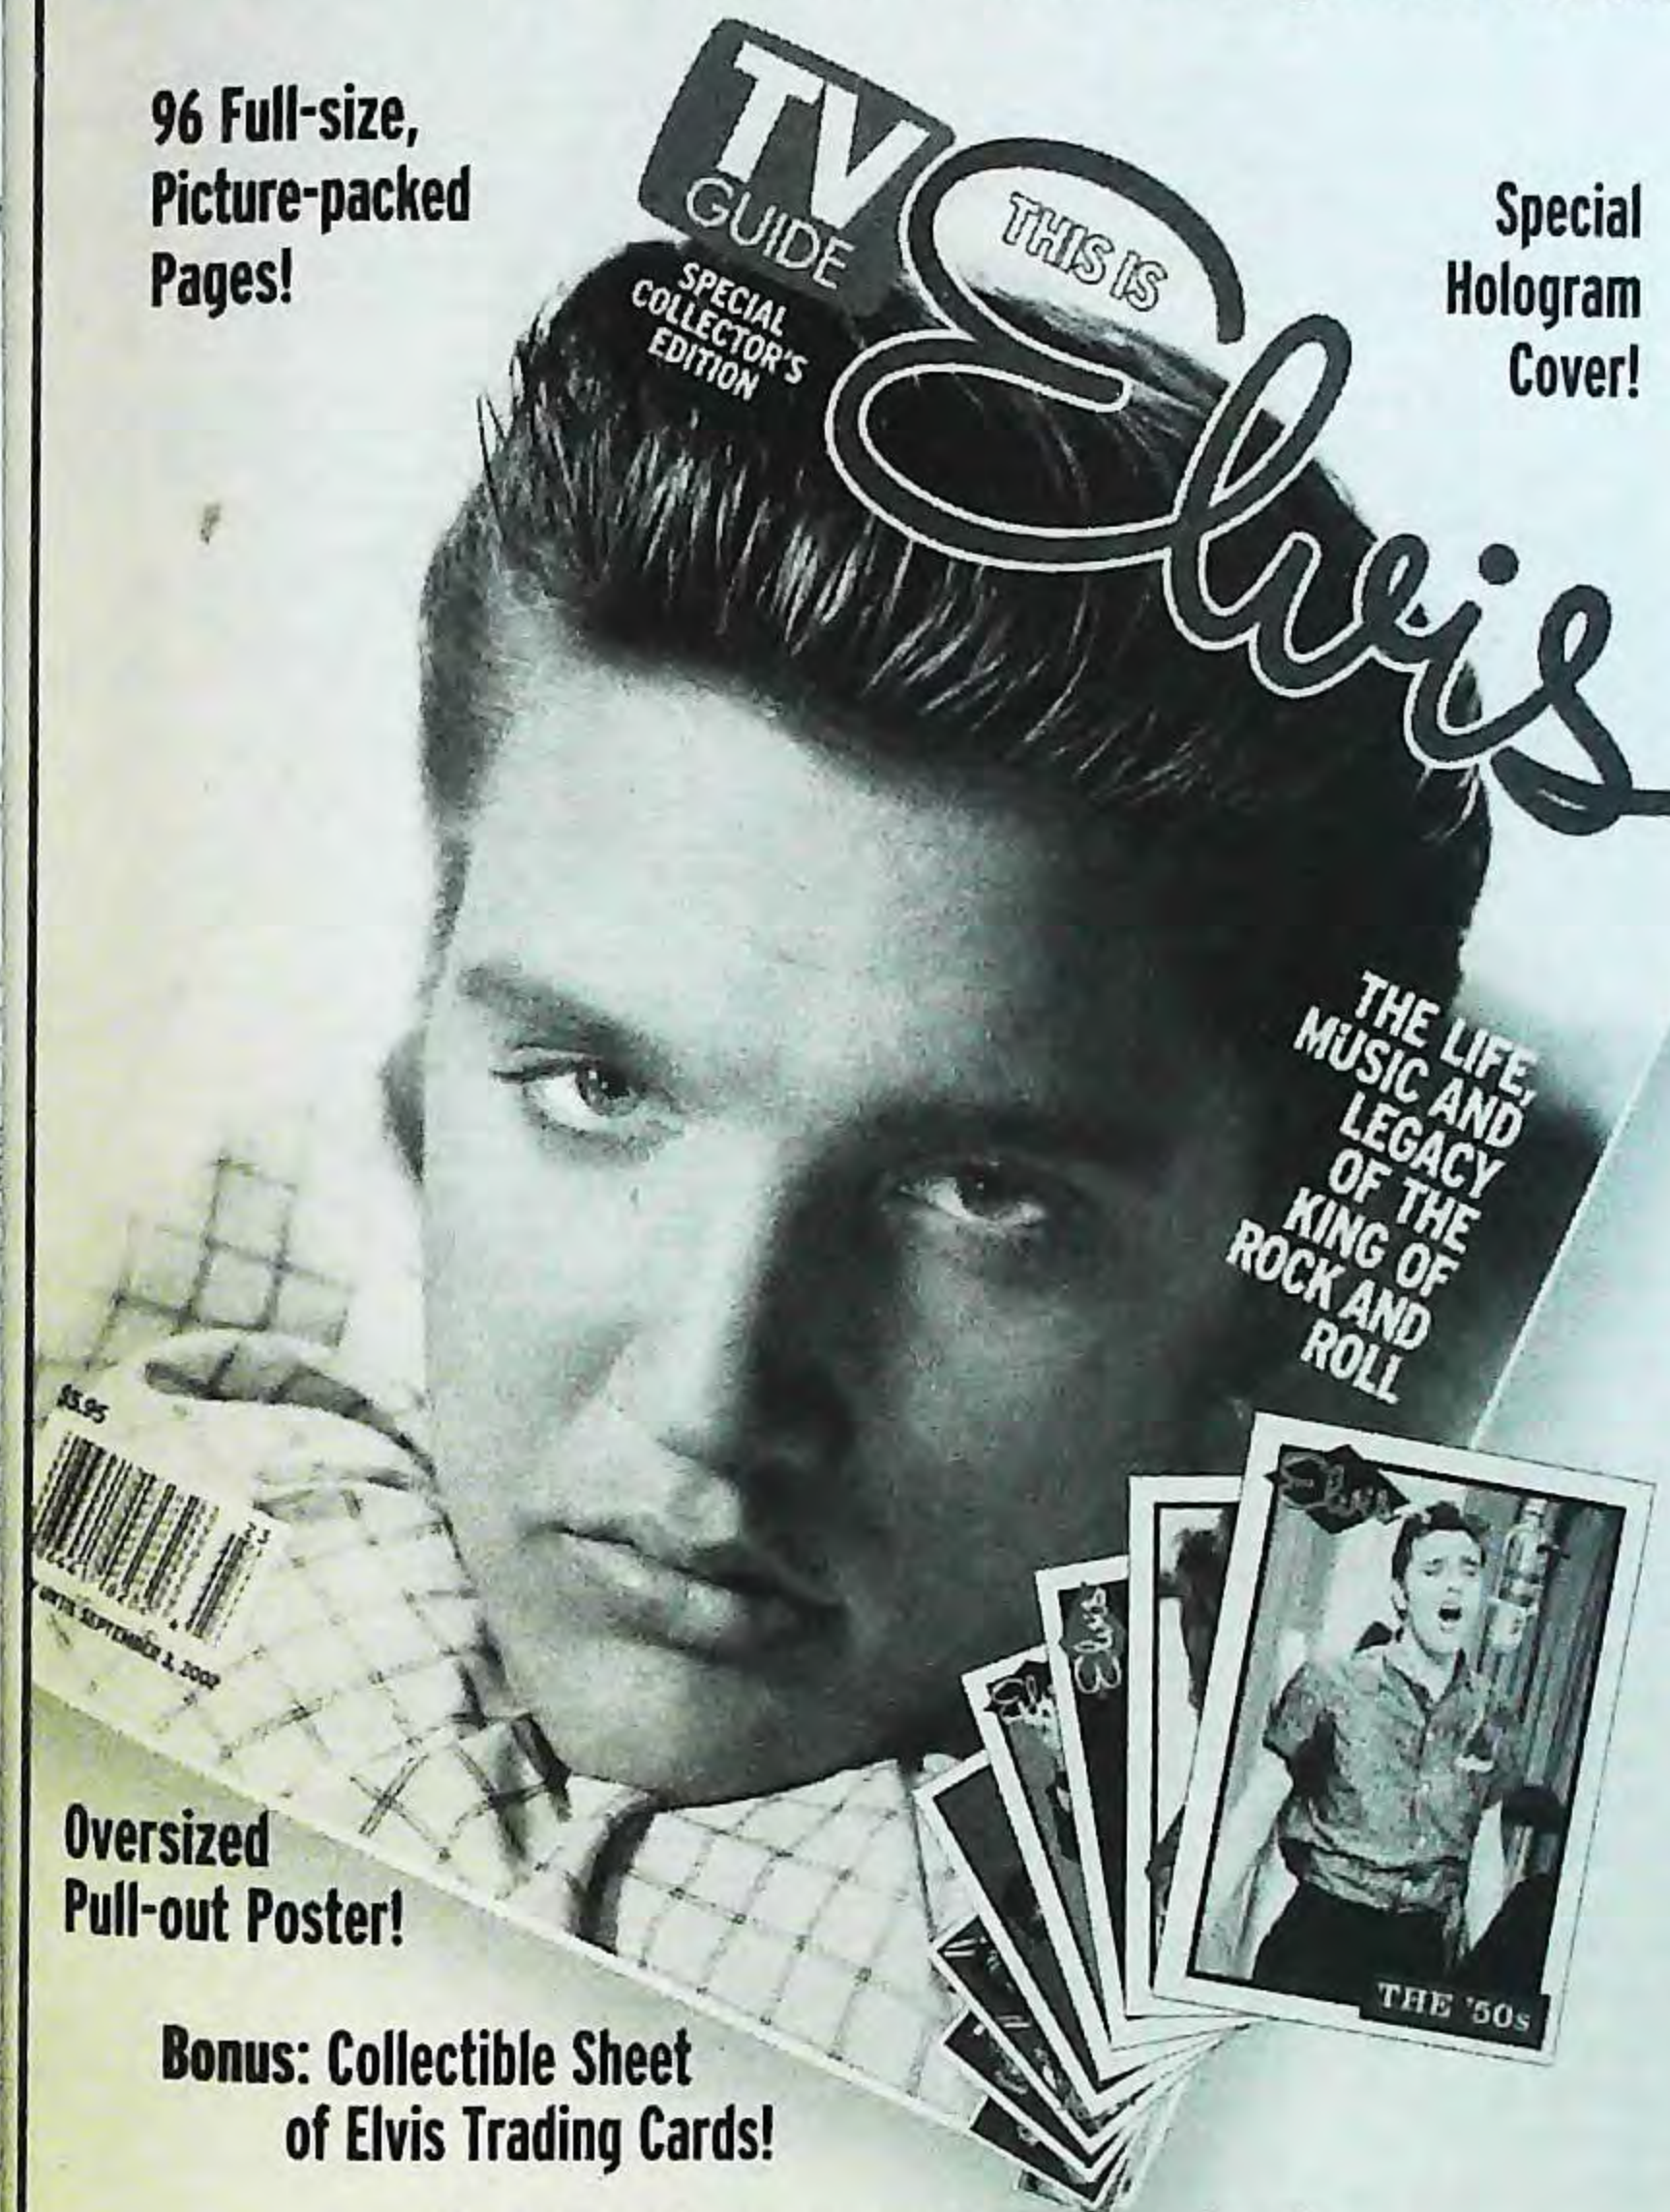

"Loving You," and he's at his pelvis-swiveling best as hillbilly crooner Deke Rivers. Deke is a deliveryman whose singing career shifts into high gear when he catches the eye of a publicity agent (Elizabeth Scott). This presentation of the ★★ film includes interviews with NBC talent, who share memories of the King. Among those featured are Jay Leno, Martin Sheen and Carson Daly. CLOSE-UP 9/11 REMEMBRANCE

CNN PRESENTS
SAT. 7 PM (CNN)

The Attack Graphic footage of the Sept. 11, 2001, attacks on New York and Washington, D.C., and wrenching reflections by CNN staffers punctuate the moving first installment of this two-part report.

Clips of the World Trade Center strikes and ensuing carnage recall what anchor Carol Lin says began as "the most routine day." Then, says VP Sean Murtagh, who saw the North Tower hit, "You got a thud in your stomach of 'Did I just see what I thought I just saw?'" Also commenting are CEO Walter Isaacson, Paula Zahn, Aaron Brown and reporter Kate Snow, who fled Congressional offices after the Pentagon attack thinking, "How far away do I have to be from the Capitol to not die?" Next Saturday: the aftermath (1:00)

CLOSE-UP MOVIE

M* DON'T SAY A WORD (CC)
SAT. 7 PM (HBO) THURS. 7 PM (HBO2)

Gritting his teeth with steely determination, Michael Douglas once again plays an affluent Manhattanite who finds himself embroiled in danger in this suspense thriller directed by Gary Fleder ("Kiss the Girls").

Douglas portrays Nathan Conrad, a psychiatrist whose young daughter is kidnapped on Thanksgiving Day. But the culprits don't demand a ransom; they're after the location of a stolen jewel that's been missing for years. Conrad has only a few hours to break through to a mentally ill teen (Brittany Murphy) who holds the key to finding the gem, but who insists, "I'll never tell." The 2001 movie is rated R for violence and strong language. Koster: Sean Bean. (155)

Hand painted with an original design created by Pearle Kamp Parsells

Sunlight streaming into a secluded garden illuminates the beauty of each petal, each leaf. Butterflies and bumblebees bask in the glow, exploring every corner of the garden.

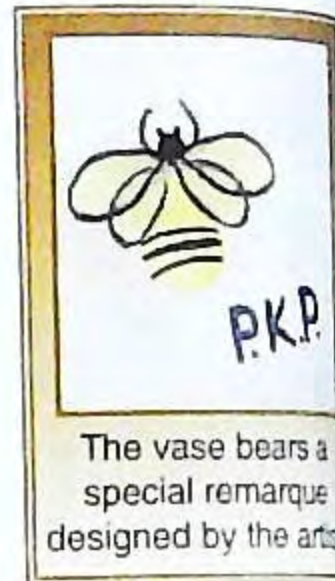

Award-winning artist Pearle Kamp Parsells has created these garden images exclusively for The Gold Trellis Vase from Lenox. Her portraits of lilacs, magnolias, hydrangeas, tulips, and more fill a trellis design of pure 24 karat gold. Her art will be hand painted onto each vase by skilled artisans reproducing every fine brush stroke of the original.

Premier issue

The Gold Trellis Vase inaugurates a collection of floral home accents by Pearle Kamp Parsells. Available from Lenox at just $58.50, this imported glass vase will bear a remarque created by the artist and will be issued with a Lenox® Certificate of Authenticity.

To acquire this elegant hand-painted vase for your home, simply mail your order today.

Visit us at: www.LenoxCollections.com

The vase bears a special remarque designed by the artist.

Original Disney art of your favorite Pooh characters in a splendiferous set of 24 spice jars

Winnie the Pooh knows that (next to honey) friends are the spice of life. That's why The Pooh Pantry Spice Jar Set includes all his best buddies—each an original portrait by the artists of The Walt Disney Studios.

Fine porcelain • 24 karat gold
All 24 spice jars will be crafted of Lenox® fine porcelain and accented with 24 karat gold. And each jar will bear a different work of art created for this set. The double bands of sky blue on each jar will be individually hand painted. And a sculpted bee, gilded in 24 karat gold, will top each jar.

The Pooh Pantry Spice Jar Set is available direct from Lenox by subscription. The price of each spice jar is just $14.95, and subscribers will receive their jars at the convenient rate of two every other month. A custom hardwood spice rack is included at no extra cost.

To start your subscription for this fine imported set, simply sign and mail the attached form promptly. Your satisfaction is completely guaranteed.

A pleasant surprise for Pooh—and you—a beehive on the back of each jar.

CLOSE-UP FAMILY FIND

SLAMMIN' SAMMY (2)
SUN. 12 noon (9)

Shoeshine Boy to Superstar From his humble roots in the Dominican Republic, Sammy Sosa has risen to become one of baseball's elite players. This entertaining show dramatizes the slugger's life and career in an animated format that the entire family can enjoy.

Adults may find the early scenes focusing on Sosa's youth a bit uneven, in particular a sequence in which Sammy dreams of future baseball stardom. But things pick up upon Sosa's arrival in the U.S., where he learns the age-old lesson that even the most talented people can't succeed without help. Sosa's time with the White Sox and his 1998 home-run battle with Mark McGwire are also featured, along with a glimpse at his charity work for his country. (1:00)

CLOSE-UP SERIES PREMIERE

ROYALTY A-Z
SUN. 7PM (E)

Princes William, Charles and Harry

Debut: This 11-part documentary on Britain's royal family features film footage and comments from palace observers and celebrities. The series opens with an overview of the monarchy and a tour of Buckingham Palace, followed immediately by an episode on Prince William, who "never wants to be king," says royal watcher Nicholas Davies. A profile of Princess Diana airs Monday, followed by daily installments on Prince Charles; royal weddings; Prince Harry and the Queen Mother; and the family's favorite entertainers. Four episodes air next weekend: two on Saturday surveying castles and royal rebels and a pair on Sunday focusing on Queen Elizabeth II and her Golden Jubilee. (1:00)

SUN. 7 PM FAM

George Eads and Jane Krakowski play love-struck neighbors whose romance is anything but a walk in the park in this winsome 2002 cable comedy. Thirtysomething dog-walker Adam (Eads) counts some of New York City's business elite among his clients. When one of them, A.J. Preston, needs someone to house-sit his penthouse apartment while he's away on business, Adam reluctantly agrees. He's soon glad he did, though, when he meets Rachel (Krakowski), an attractive dog-lover who recently moved into the building. But she assumes her neighbor is the wealthy Preston, an assumption Adam isn't eager to correct. (2:00)

It's Christmas Eve, and a sense of wonder and hope awakens in the Precious Moments Christmas Village. The toy shop, the post office, and the school look festive. The chapel, its heart-motif windows shining, stands ready for worshippers.

Cherish the joyful glow of Christmas all year

Beloved Precious Moments messengers remind us of the love that shines throughout the holiday. The illuminated buildings, the hand-cast figurines, and the many seasonal adornments make each an heirloom-quality work of art to make part of your holiday tradition.

Begin with "Holy Night Chapel" and free figurine!

Soon, Charter Subscribers can look forward to more lighted sculptures sent about every other month. Your second issue, "Merry Memories School," comes with a figurine of the Nativity children—FREE!

Your timing is crucial!

This is a limited-time offer and strong demand is expected from Precious Moments collectors, so act promptly. Send no money now, just mail the coupon.

INTIMATE PORTRAIT (CC)
MON. 6 PM (LIF)

Jane Kaczmarek, who has earned three Emmy nominations for her Malcolm in the Middle role, shares entertaining stories of her long road to success in this lighthearted installment. Narrator Linda Emond describes Kaczmarek's Malcolm persona, Lois, as the "wackiest mom in prime time." But the actress is quick to point out that her on-screen parent-ing style differs from the way she's raising her own kids with husband Bradley Whitford (The West Wing), who is also interviewed. Bryan Cranston and Susan Sarandon comment on play-ing opposite Kaczmarek on the Fox comedy; and Tony Shalhoub and Timothy Busfield praise her early dramatic work, including 1984's "Falling in Love" (1:00) Kaczmarek

CLOSE-UP SEASON FINALE

STATE OF GRACE (CC) (2)
MON. 7 PM, 7:30 PM (FAM)

Legacy The second season of the delightful family series concludes with two winning back-to-back episodes.

In the first, Grace returns from a summer of globetrotting with her mom and cold shoulders Hannah, who worries that their friendship is over; and Uncle Heschie goes on his first real date. The second episode guest stars Fred Savage as an author who interviews Tattie (Faye Grant) for his book on prominent Southern families. While Tattie's thrilled that her family is included, she turns on her considerable charm to distract him from learning the truth about one of her less noble ancestors. At the factory, Hannah grows jealous of her dad's bond with a new worker. (1:00)

CLOSE-UP MOVIE

LIF THE SECRET LIFE OF ZOEY (CC) 2:00

MON. 8 PM (LIF)

Mia Farrow and Julia Whelan are well cast in this 2002 cable drama about a woman who is blinded to her child's addiction to prescription drugs by changes in her own life.

Because of her recent divorce, Marcia Carter (Farrow) must reenter the work force after 16 years as a stay-at-home mom. Preoccupied with job interviews, Marcia misses the warning signs as her seemingly happy 16-year-old daughter, Zoey (Whelan), begins popping pills to hide her insecurities and alleviate the stress of being shuffled back and forth between her parents' homes. It's only after she's hospitalized for an overdose that Zoey's problem can no longer be denied. Mike: Andrew McCarthy. Larry Carter: Cliff De Young. Mimi: Caroline Aaron. (2:00)

EDITORS' CHOICE

WEST WING (CC) 5
WED. 8 PM 5

A Standout Episode C.J. (Emmy nominee Allison Janney) finally begins to get a life—because of a threat on her life—in this May repeat.

After criticizing Saudi Arabia, C.J. receives many negative e-mails, one of which interests the Secret Service, which assigns her an agent (Emmy nominee Mark Harmon)...who interests C.J. Meanwhile, the President is to meet with Russia's new President, but Joint Chiefs chairman Fitzwallace (John Amos) has sobering news: A Russian-built nuclear facility in Iran can produce plutonium. And a computer-chip maker (Peter Scolari) who's a major campaign contributor also has bad news: His company must recall 80 million chips. (1:00)

CLOSE-UP FAMILY FIND

LIZZIE MCGUIRE (CC)
 FRI. 6:30 PM (DIS)

Lizzie in the Middle Lizzie's romantic life takes an unexpected turn when teen heartthrob Frankie Muniz asks her out. The Malcolm in the Middle cutie guest stars as himself in a funny episode about the pitfalls of fame. It's "like" at first sight for Muniz when he meets Lizzie (Hilary Duff) during a visit to her school. While she's equally smitten, she declines his invitation for a date. "We're from two different worlds," she explains to her dumbfounded friends. "Like Romeo and Juliet—and look how they ended up." Finally, her celebrity admirer's persistence pays off, and Lizzie agrees to have coffee with him. Any kind of normal courtship, though, seems unlikely, as screaming fans and the media intrude on their tryst.

Duff, Muniz

EDITORS' CHOICE FAMILY FIND

MOT A RING OF ENDLESS LIGHT (CC)
 FRI. 7 PM (DIS)

A 16-year-old girl discovers she has a remarkable gift in this charming 2002 cable drama adapted from Madeleine L'Engle's novel. During her annual vacation at her grandfather's island home, Vicky Austin (sweetly played by Mischa Barton) hopes to pick up where she left off in a relationship with rich, handsome Zach (Jared Padalecki). But things get complicated when she meets a marine-research student named Adam (Ryan Merriman) and they bond over his work with sea mammals. As she tries to figure out her romantic dilemma, Vicky struggles to make sense of something even more puzzling: her ability to communicate with a pair of Adam's dolphins. Rev. Eaton: James Whitmore. (1:30)

TV GUIDE'S STAR RATINGS

In this feature, theatrical movies are accompanied by star ratings of ★★★★★ (excellent), ★★★ (good), ★★ (fair) or ★ (poor). Our evaluations are based on a number of factors, including a consensus of leading critics, quality of cast and director, awards earned and box-office performance. Though movies may be edited for television, our ratings are based on the original, complete film. The absence of stars indicates an unrated movie. TV GUIDE does not evaluate movies if the criteria cannot be applied because too few facts are known (example: a minor foreign film), or if the film is made for television or released directly to video.

PARENTAL GUIDANCE

The official MPAA content rating (G, PG, PG-13, R or NC-17) is provided for every unedited film that has received one (NR: not rated). We also offer advisories about content (AT = adult themes, BN = brief nudity, N = nudity, SL = strong language, SS = sexual situations, V = violence). Parents should be aware that films containing adult themes or sexual situations frequently involve nudity, even though our advisory may not explicitly say so.

TV GUIDE HOROSCOPE

By Sally Brompton

♈ ARIES (March 21-April 20) No matter how idealistic you are, you'll have to be pragmatic this week, both in your personal life and at work. Once the sun joins clear-thinking Mercury in Virgo on the 23rd, you must take life a day at a time and not look too far ahead.

For your extended Aries horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5558*

♉ TAURUS (April 21-May 21) Once the sun moves into your fellow Earth sign of Virgo on Friday, all your worries about your job, your family and your relationships should be swept aside as if they don't exist. One of the best times of the year is about to begin.

For your extended Taurus horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5559*

♊ GEMINI (May 22-June 21) Upheavals of one kind or another are likely this week, especially around the time the sun opposes Uranus, planet of surprises, on Tuesday. The good news is that most if not all of them will work in your favor, so don't try to prevent them. It's neither possible nor desirable.

For your extended Gemini horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5560*

♋ CANCER (June 22-July 23) What has been worrying you the most these past few weeks will affect you the least, so put it out of your mind and, with luck, you'll forget about it for good. A more carefree phase is about to begin, so cheer up and look on the bright side.

For your extended Cancer horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5561*

♌ LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) The sun remains in your birth sign only until Friday, so if there are any tasks that need completing, deal with them now because time is running out. Tuesday's sun-Uranus aspect will cause conflict with a colleague, but it won't be a long-term problem if you don't take it too seriously.

For your extended Leo horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5562*

♍ VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) The old solar year is drawing to a close, and when the sun moves into your birth sign on Friday, a new cycle begins. Forget about starting anything new this week, because this is a time for reflection and self-analysis.

For your extended Virgo horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5563*

♎ LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) Any limitations you experience over the next few days will be swept away in midweek when Uranus, planet of sudden changes, aspects both the sun and Saturn, planet of restriction. Sometimes you need to let the pressure build for a while until a breakthrough becomes possible.

For your extended Libra horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5564*

♏ SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If something you've been working on starts to fall apart this week, don't try to salvage it—help it to fall apart faster. Common sense should tell you that the project was doomed from the start, so learn what you can and be ready to move on.

For your extended Scorpio horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5565*

♐ SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The sun is approaching the midheaven angle of your chart, which governs your social status and your professional reputation. You must focus more on the image you present to the world. First impressions are important.

For your extended Sagittarius horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5566*

♑ CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) Once the sun changes signs on Friday, you will find it so much easier to come and go as you please. You will still face as many restrictions as you did before, but now you will be less inclined to let them hold you back.

For your extended Capricorn horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5567*

♒ AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) Uranus, your ruler, is opposed by the sun, which suggests that something unexpected is about to happen, most likely with a relationship. But this is not the end of the road: Thursday's full moon will make things seem worse than they are. Don't be afraid to kiss and make up.

For your extended Aquarius horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5568*

♓ PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You've been focusing so much on your work these past few weeks that your personal life has suffered. However, once the sun changes signs on Friday, you'll get the chance to make amends to those who feel left out of things. If you value your relationships, it's a chance you must take.

For your extended Pisces horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5569*
